CHALLENGE-1968

CARDINAL

Worthington High School

Worthington, Ohio

Volume XXVII

For Dramatics class, Scott Metzger portrays a mischievous schoolboy.

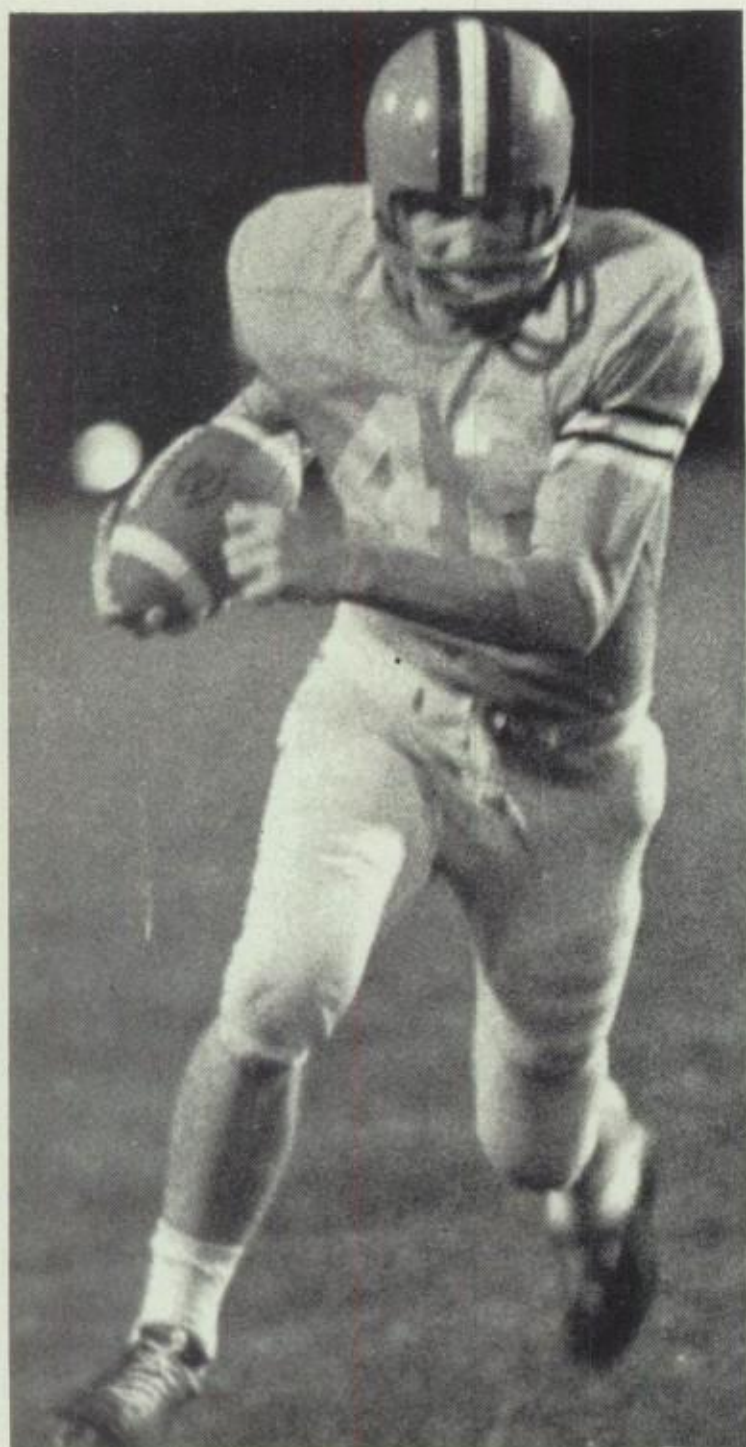

Before a football game, Sue Plaisted and Joan Hildebrand debate the team's prospects.

Everywhere, students confront challenges.

*It takes pride to meet a challenge,
Pride in one's self and school,
a continuous striving for excellence and searching for each individual's unique role.*

"Buy my wares!" cries spirited Jackie Dunlap as she peddles candy for the industrious class of '69.

Clutching the ball, Larry Ray charges determinedly down the field.

As the whistle blows, Linda Werth and Linda Nutter ready their hockey sticks to vie for ball possession.

Preparations for football practice occupy Jeff Morris.

When entering a new school, students, Janet Nelson and Paulette Mooney find instructive materials essential.

Peering through a microscope, Aileen Amarandos observes a specimen as an experiment for biology class.

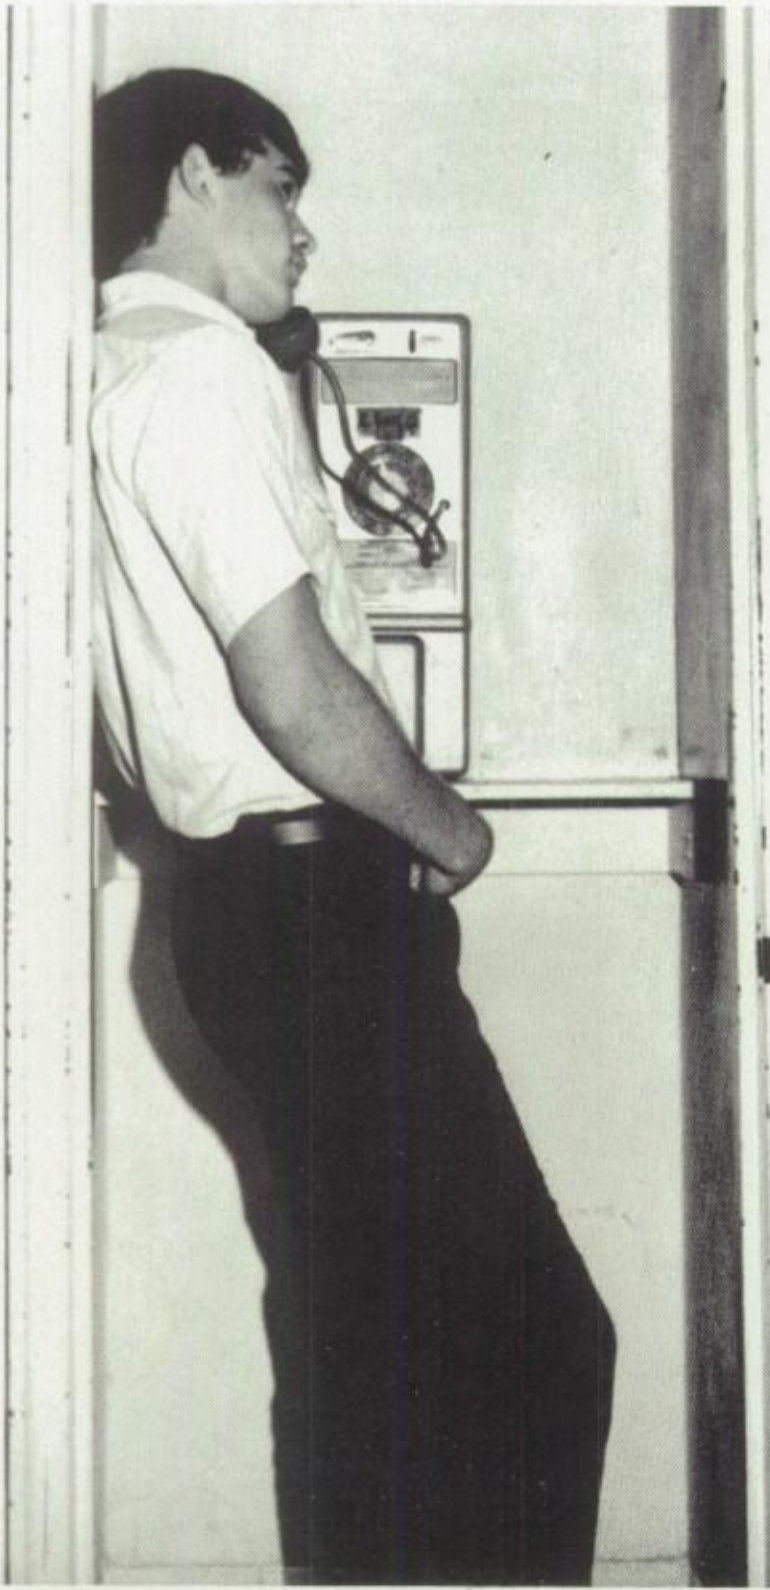

The School challenges the student, He Faces:

tests, questioning teachers, more tests, demanding coaches, records to be broken, six week grades, class rank, honor roll, and the need to be more than a card, a number.

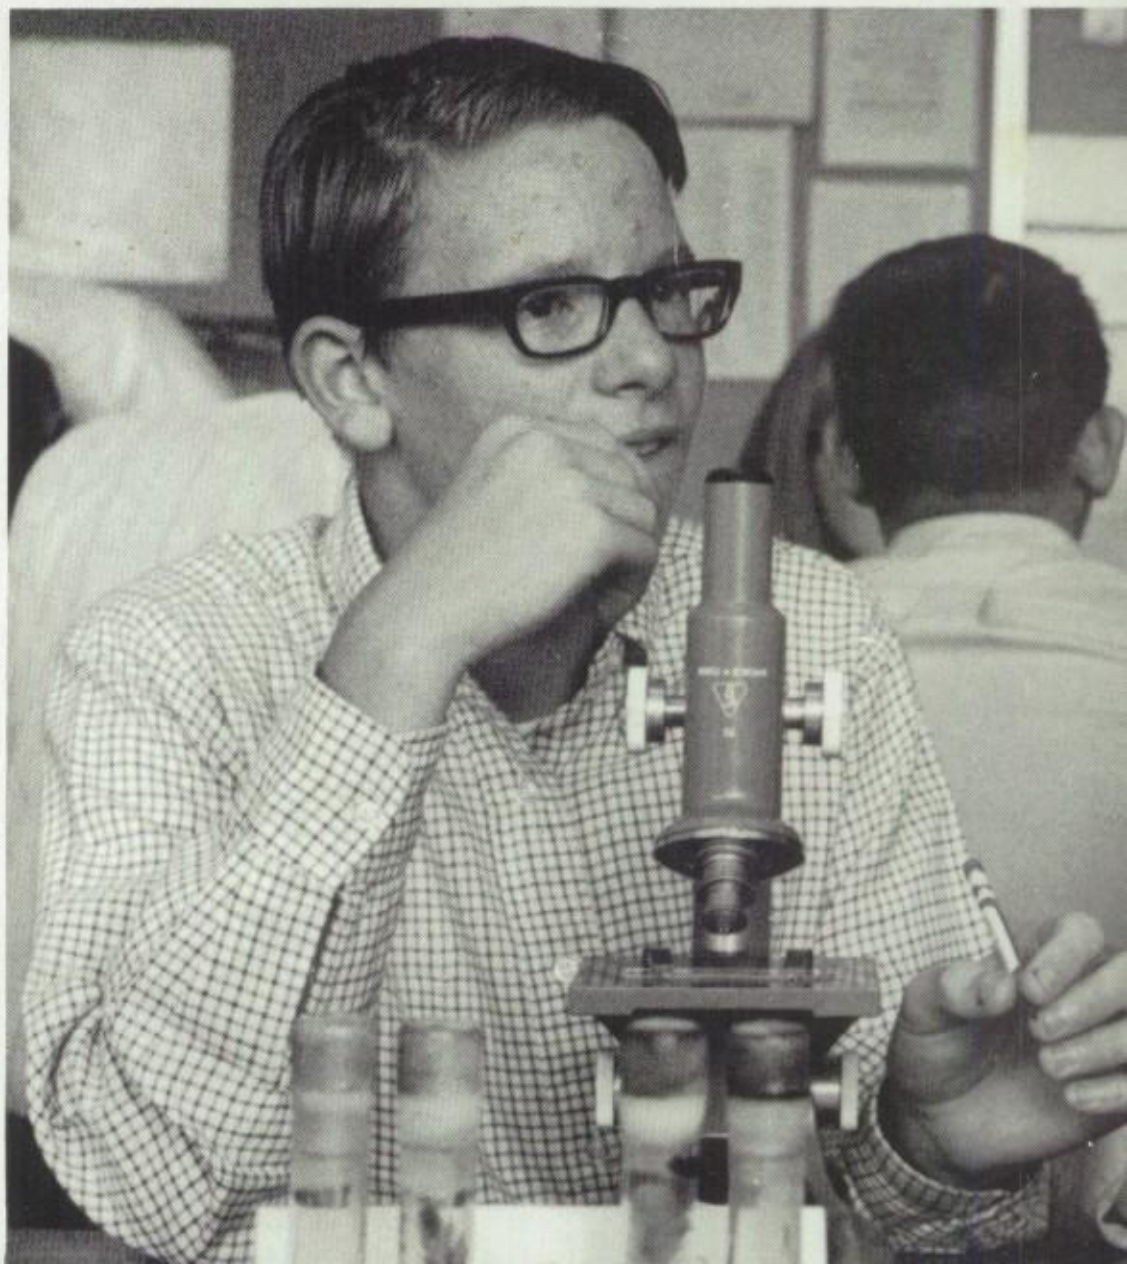

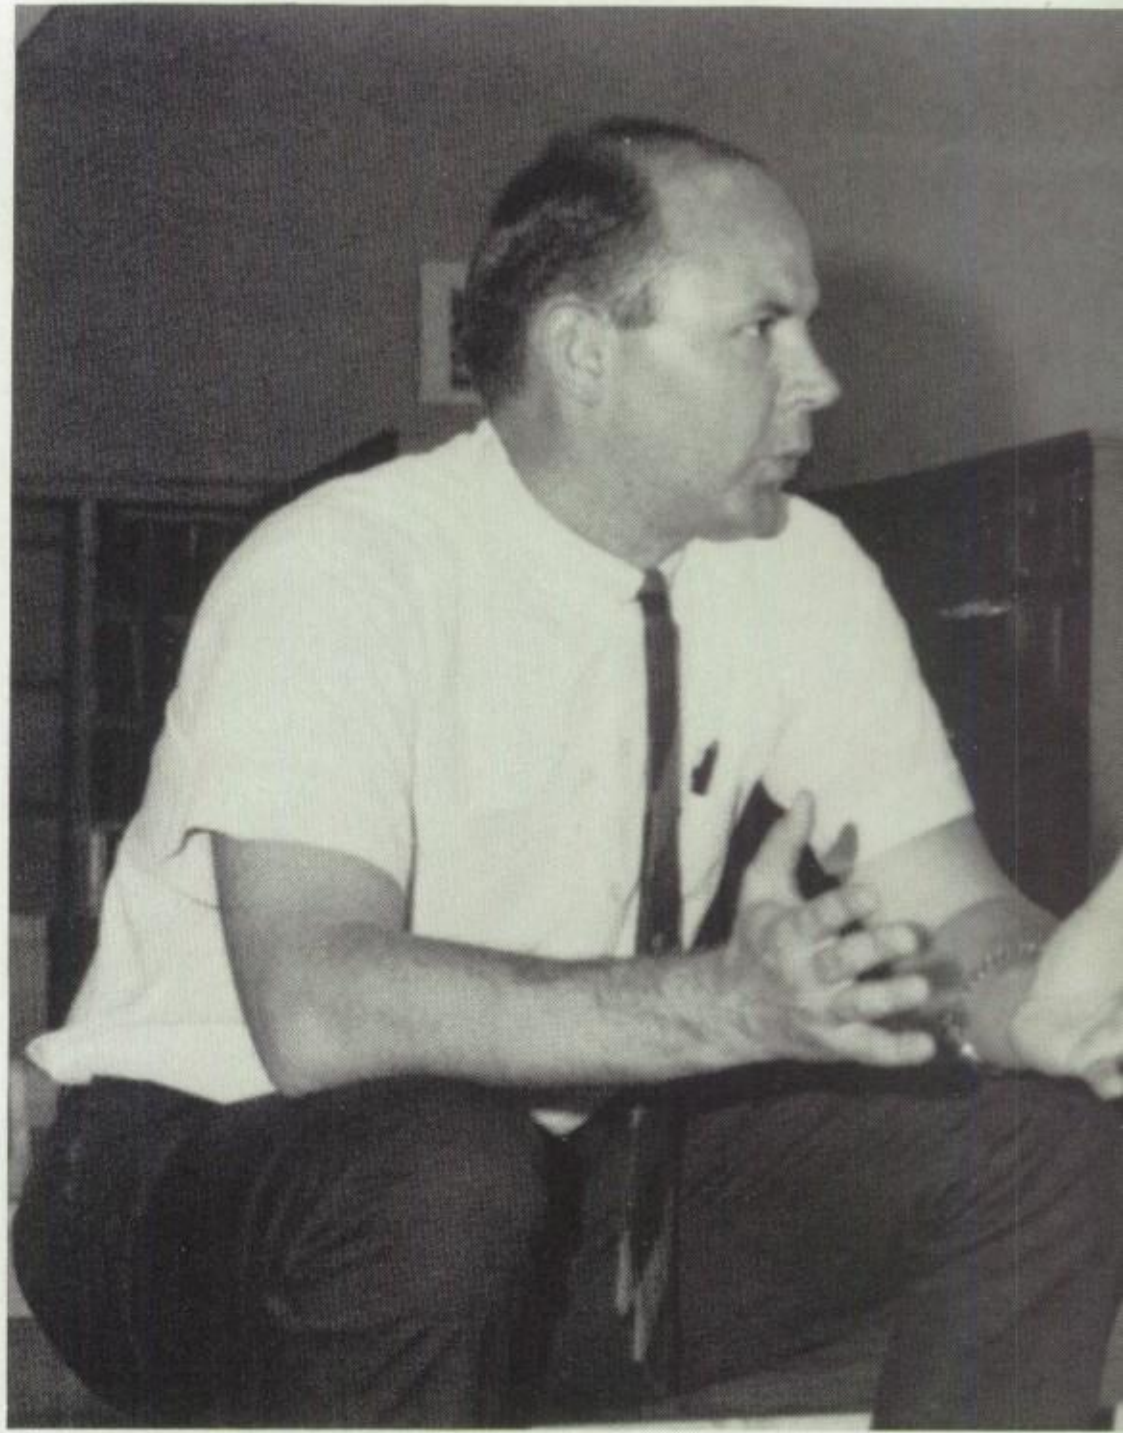

Rising to meet these always-present dares gives the student confidence needed to plunge ahead.

Dramatics student, Carol Bazewick pantomimes an enthralled movie fan.

Taking time out from class, Greg West makes an urgent telephone call.

Microscopic observation calls for decisions as Kevin Wilkes searches for answer.

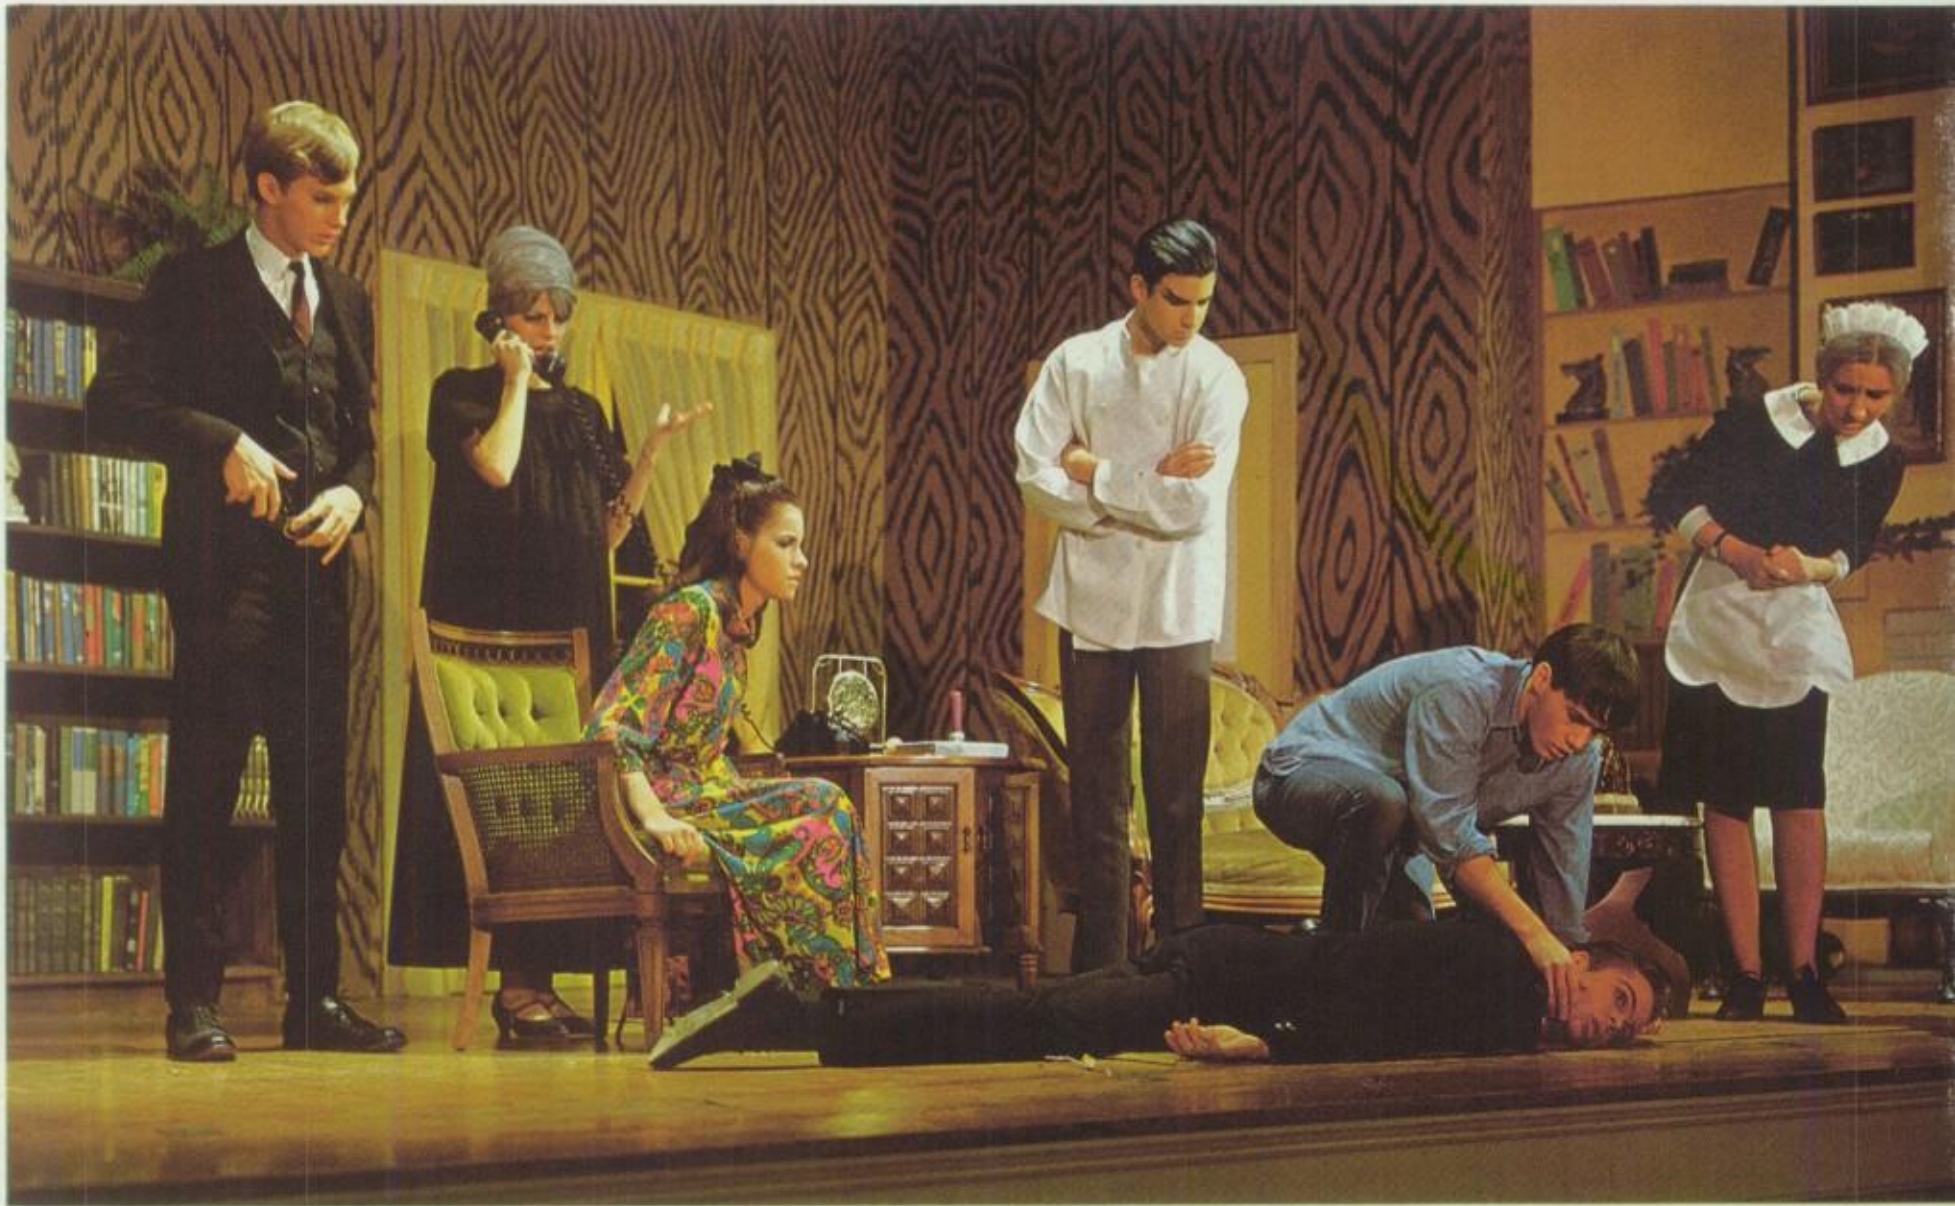

National Honor Society advisor, Mr. Nusken, briefs secretary Jodi Baber.

*The student challenges the school
 The school strives to cope with:
 the incessant questions,
 reasons for everything,
 nothing is sacred, always "why," even tradition, "I have a better idea,"
 Teach, in four years, all that it has taken man a million to learn.
 The desire to meet these universal demands makes the school complete

At the senior class meeting, Holly Church comments on the Homecoming float.

Horried characters from the fall play, "The Bat," find themselves involved in a gruesome murder and other mysterious events.

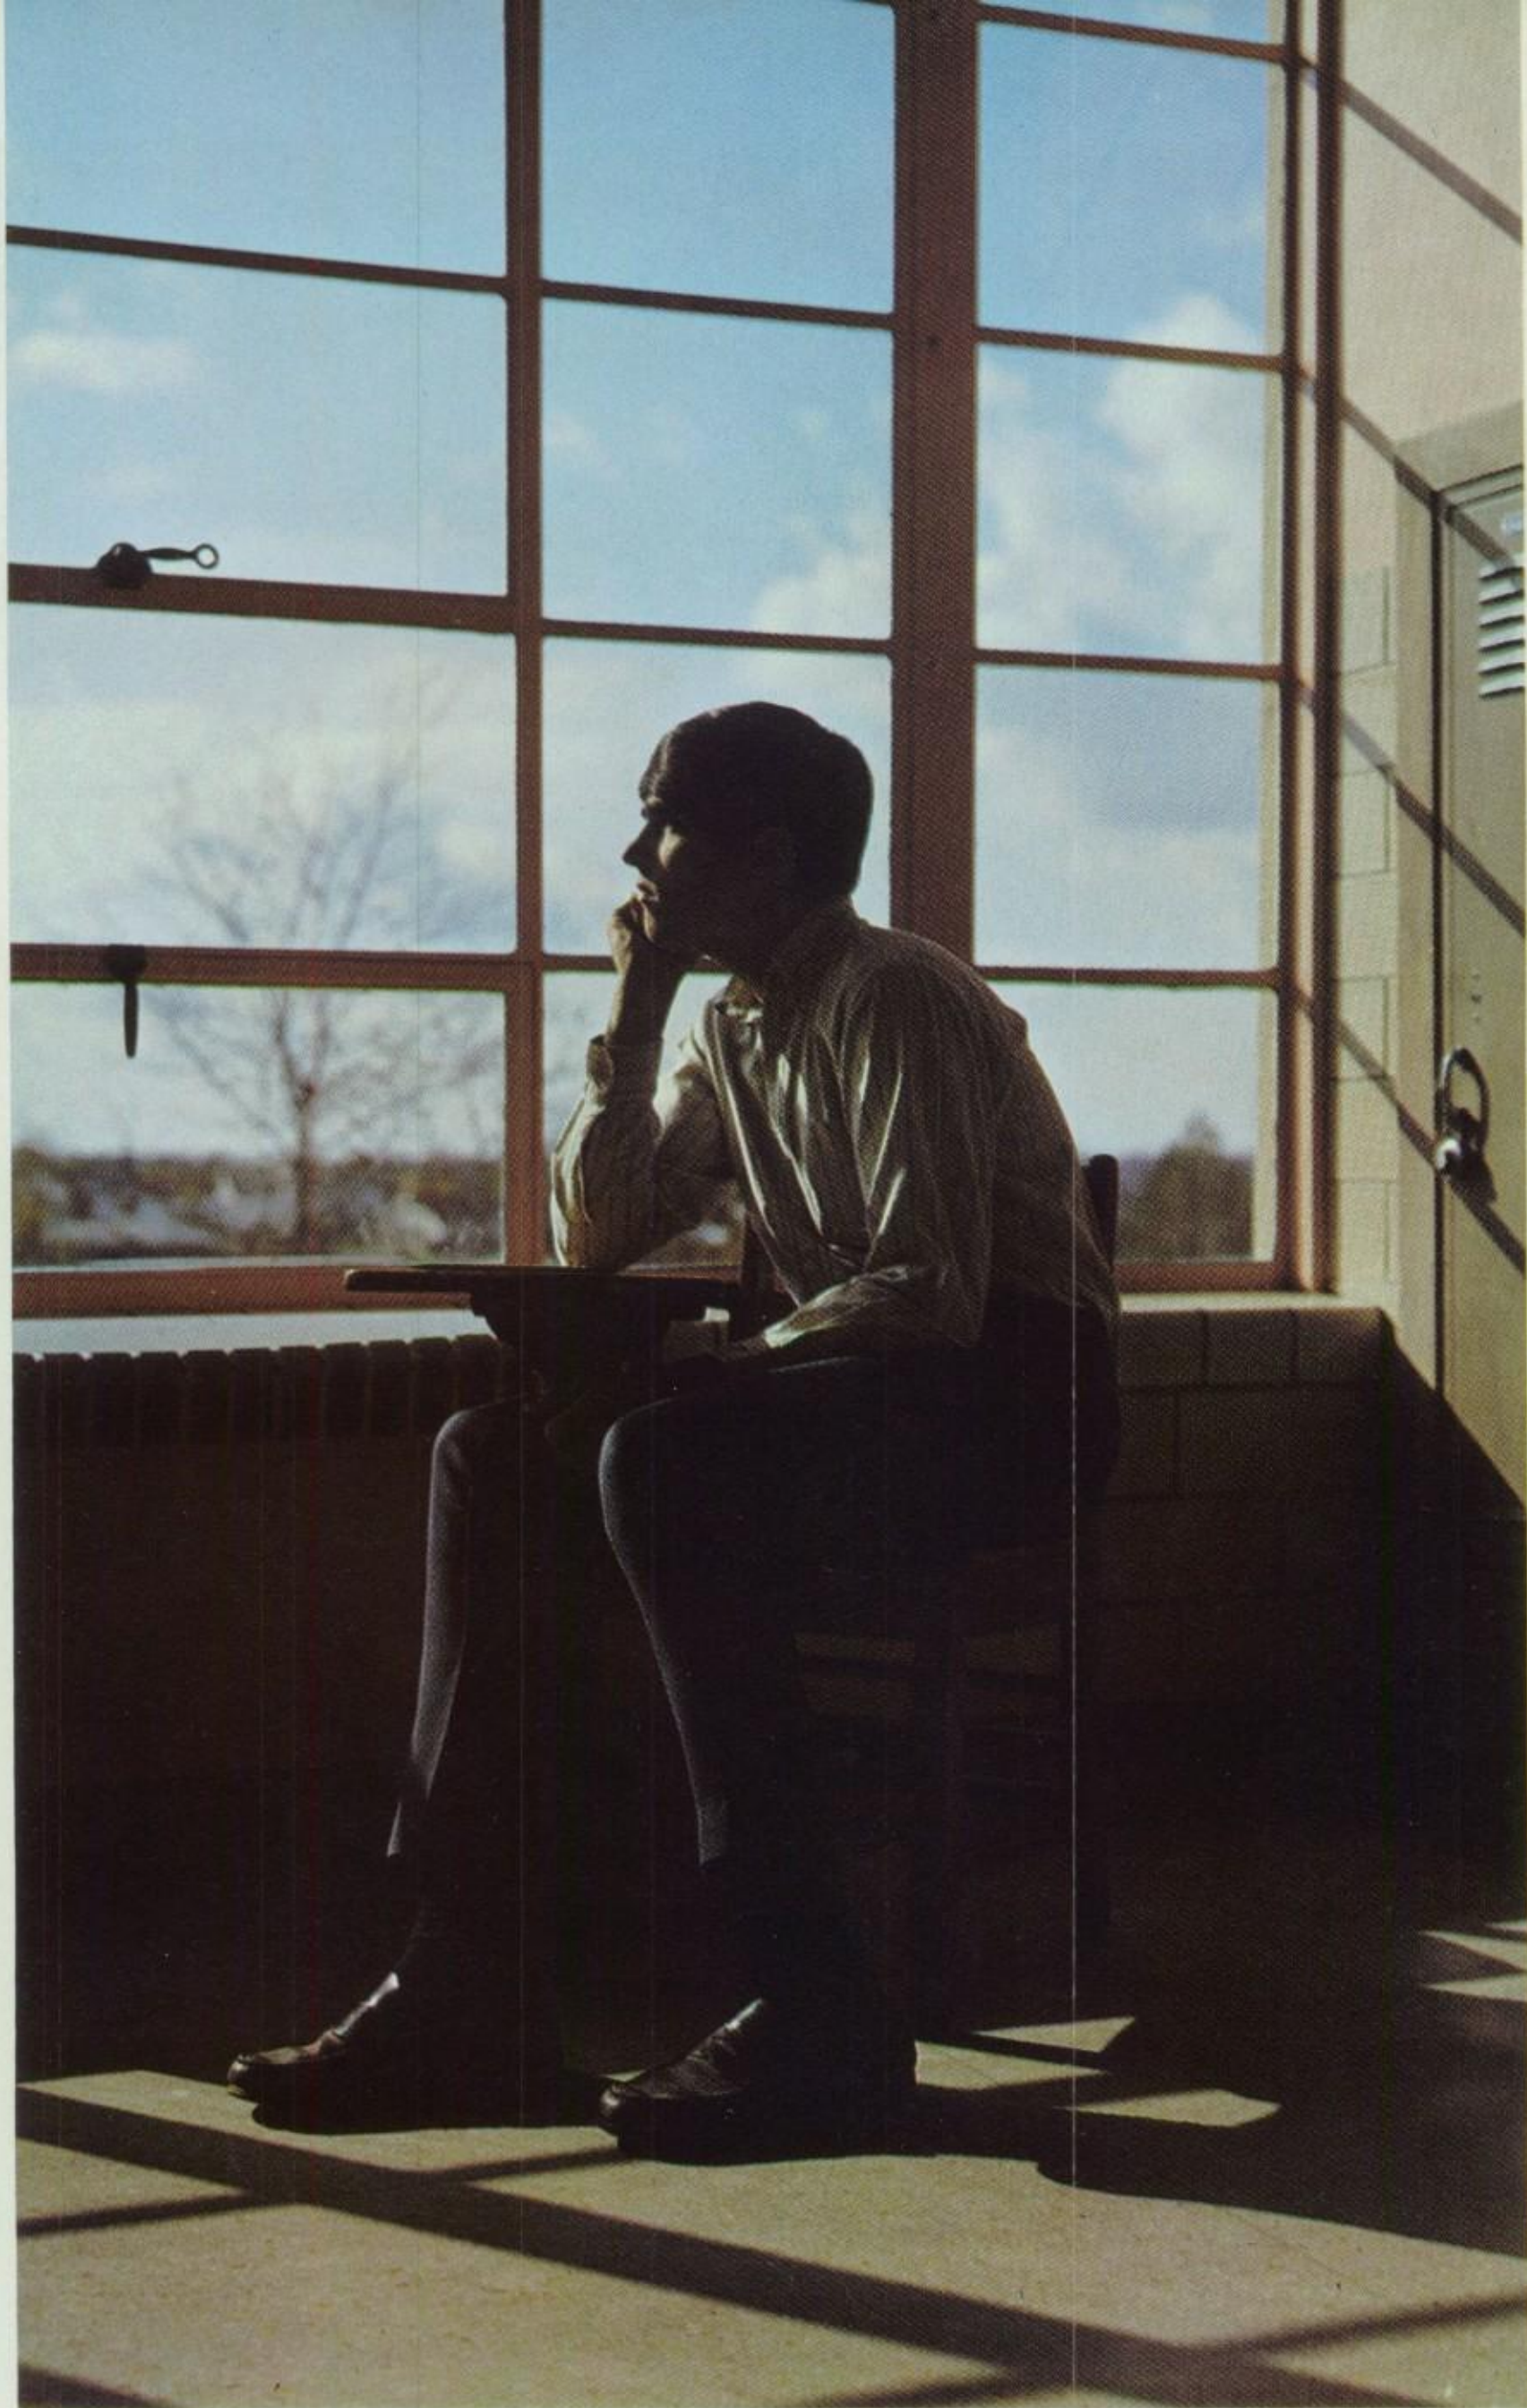

Organizations challenge all to social maturity.

They demand:

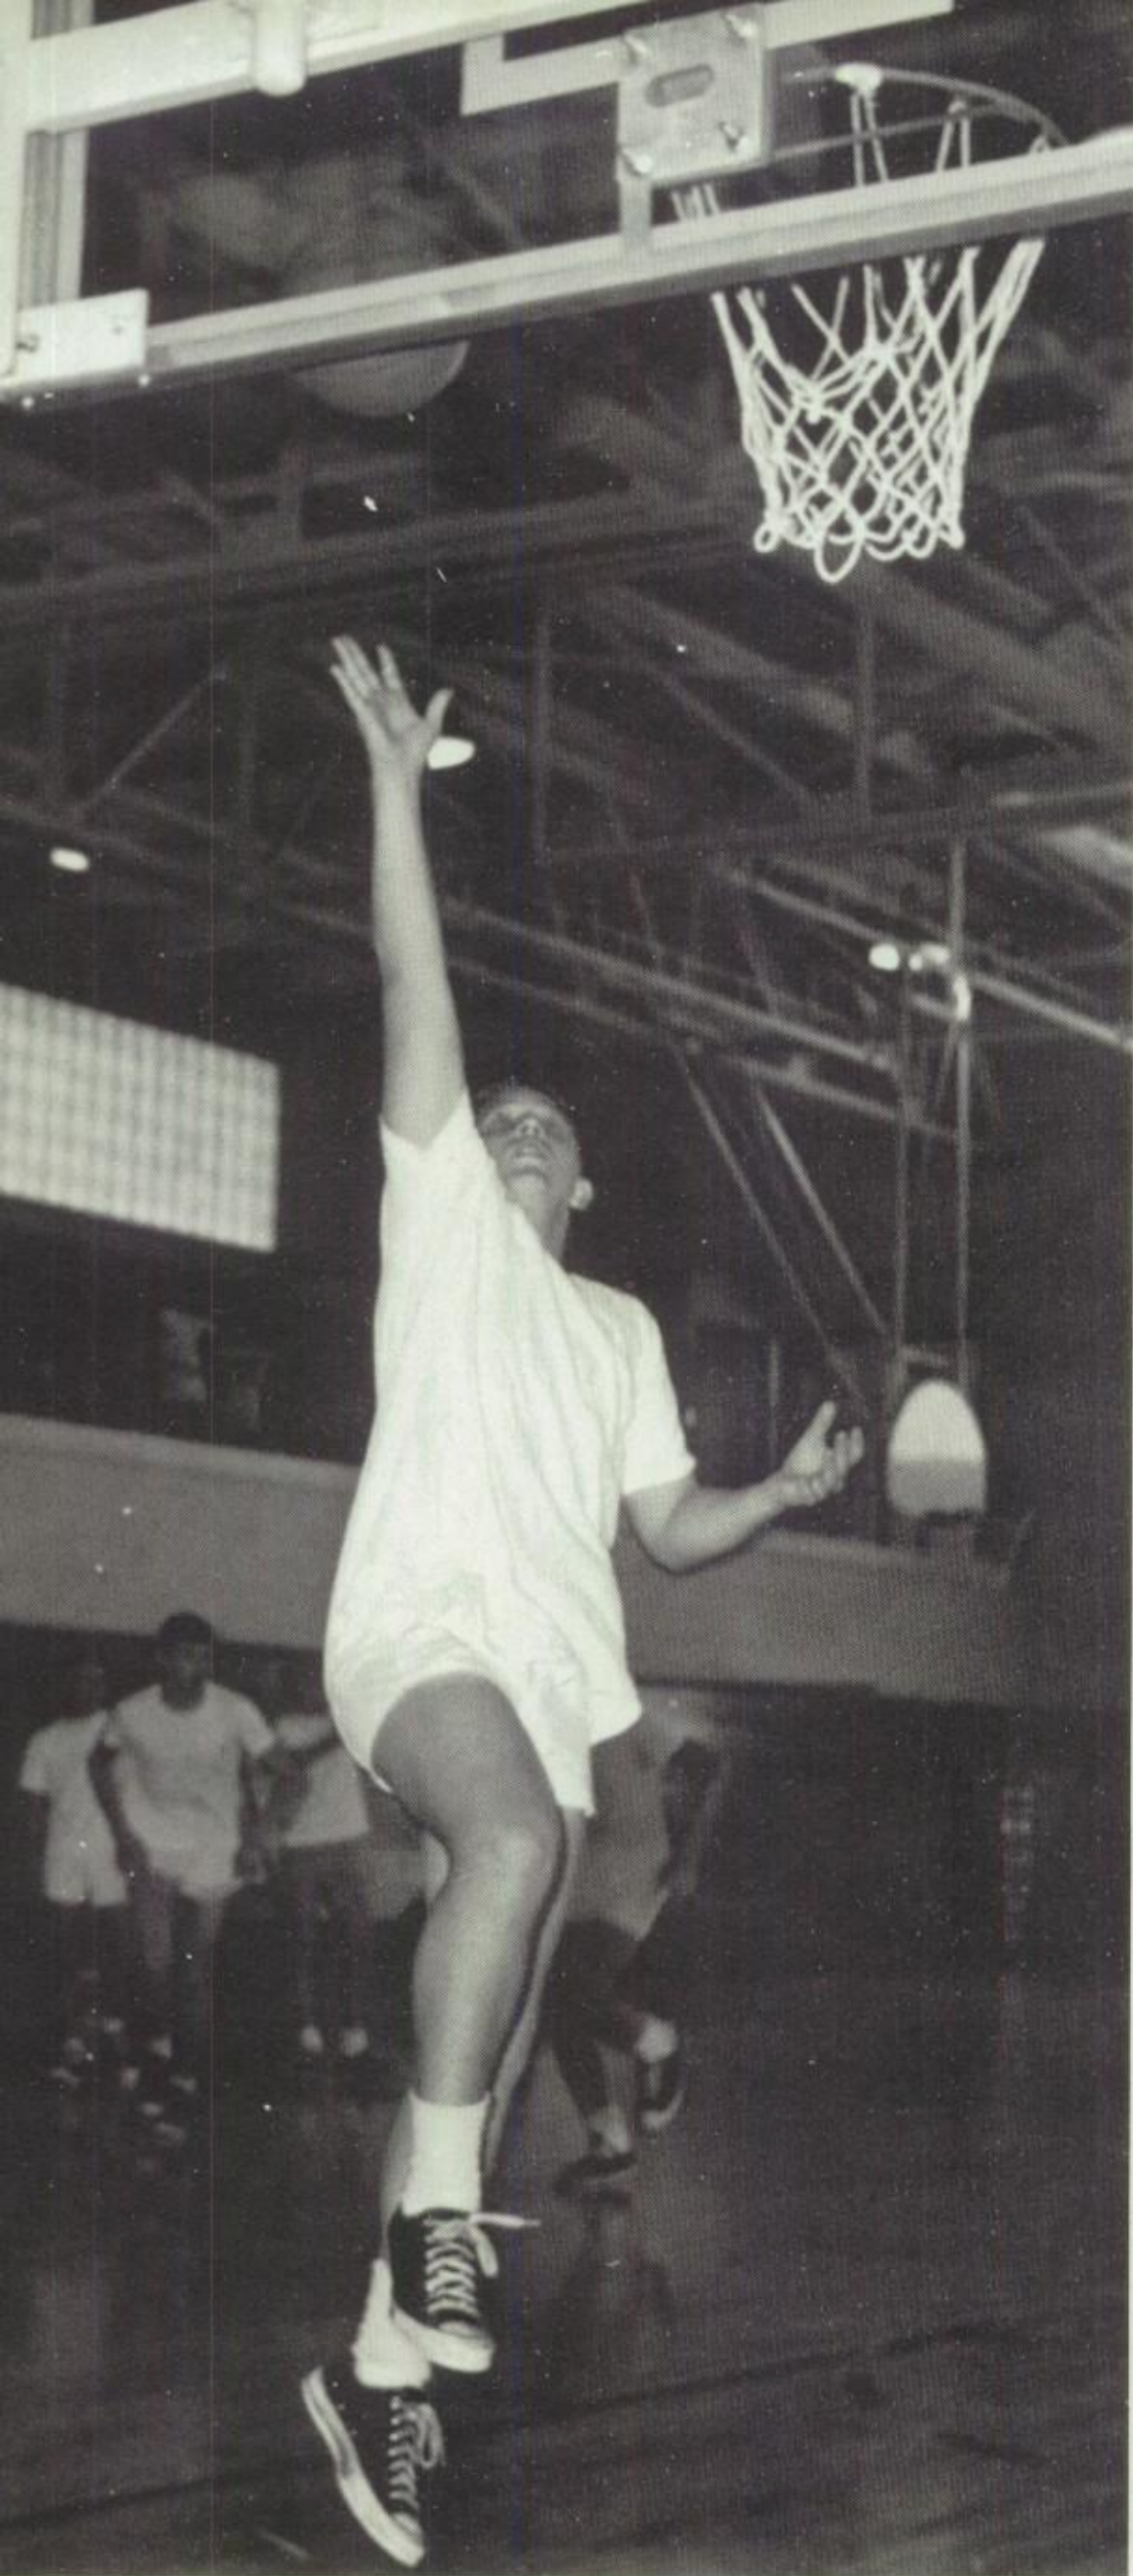

time, diligent workers, more time, individuals willing to give, energy channelled and directed, the ability to face all of the problems, jobs and work involved in a successful club.

Working with other persons toward a common goal enables one to see more clearly his place in this school.

Tuba players, Jim Schock, Greg Schoen and Jim Bashore add "oomph" to football games.

Taking a moment's respite between classes, news editor, Al Cummins, contemplates headlines for the next edition of the "Chronicle."

Phys. Ed. class is the scene as Jack Woods, making the big stretch, hopes for another basket.

Senior Joan Hildebrand works late painting colorful pictures to promote school spirit.

Anticipating the night's football game Larry Ray waits for the team's bus.

The challenges are today, tomorrow, someday.
The challenges of yesterday are buried.
Whether ignored, overcome or unconquered, they are heard no more.
New challenges arise; a new generation

Orientation Readies Students For First Year

At Worthington High School

Challenges of Worthington High School were presented on September 5, 1967 to a record number of freshmen and new students. Armed with their schedules and copies of Cardinal Notes, pupils were welcomed by the principal, Mr. Koloze leading the administration in a series of talks. Freshmen learned also of the crowded conditions that would be forcing them into the annex.

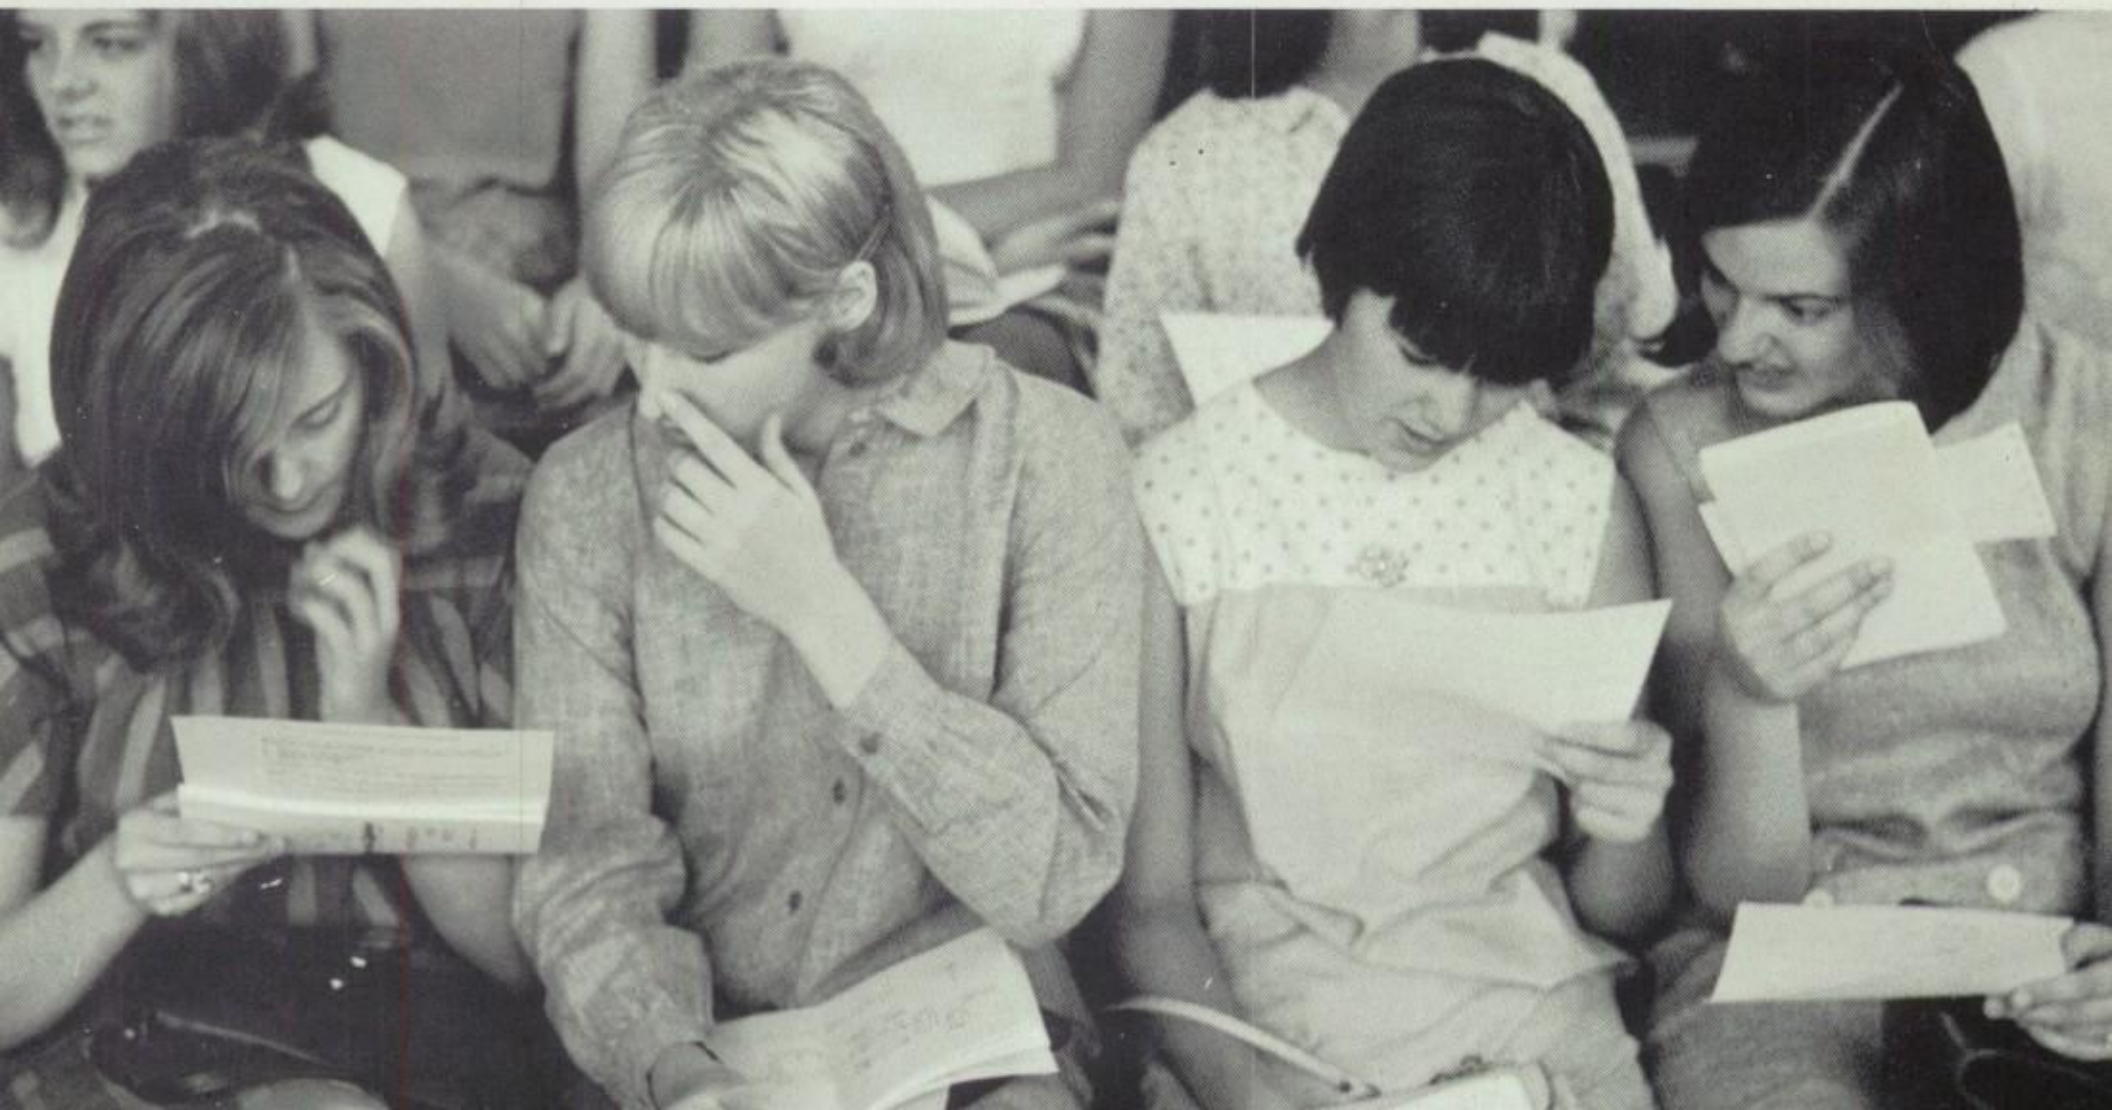

Dick Carlisle, student body president, and Mrs. Redick, activities coordinator, urged each student to be an integral part of his school by becoming involved in the many activities. Numerous club officers then related features of the various organizations to prospective members.

A welcome relief came for the group when they were free to explore the building or attend a swim party given in their behalf.

Freshman, Jeff Lorimer waits his turn, while Craig Kramer, junior, hands the essential schedule to Tom Long.

Carolyn Caldwell, Mindy Belyea, Karen Hill, and Gretchen Kundrat puzzle over newly received information.

Libby Schildknecht is first to congratulate surprised Queen Sue.

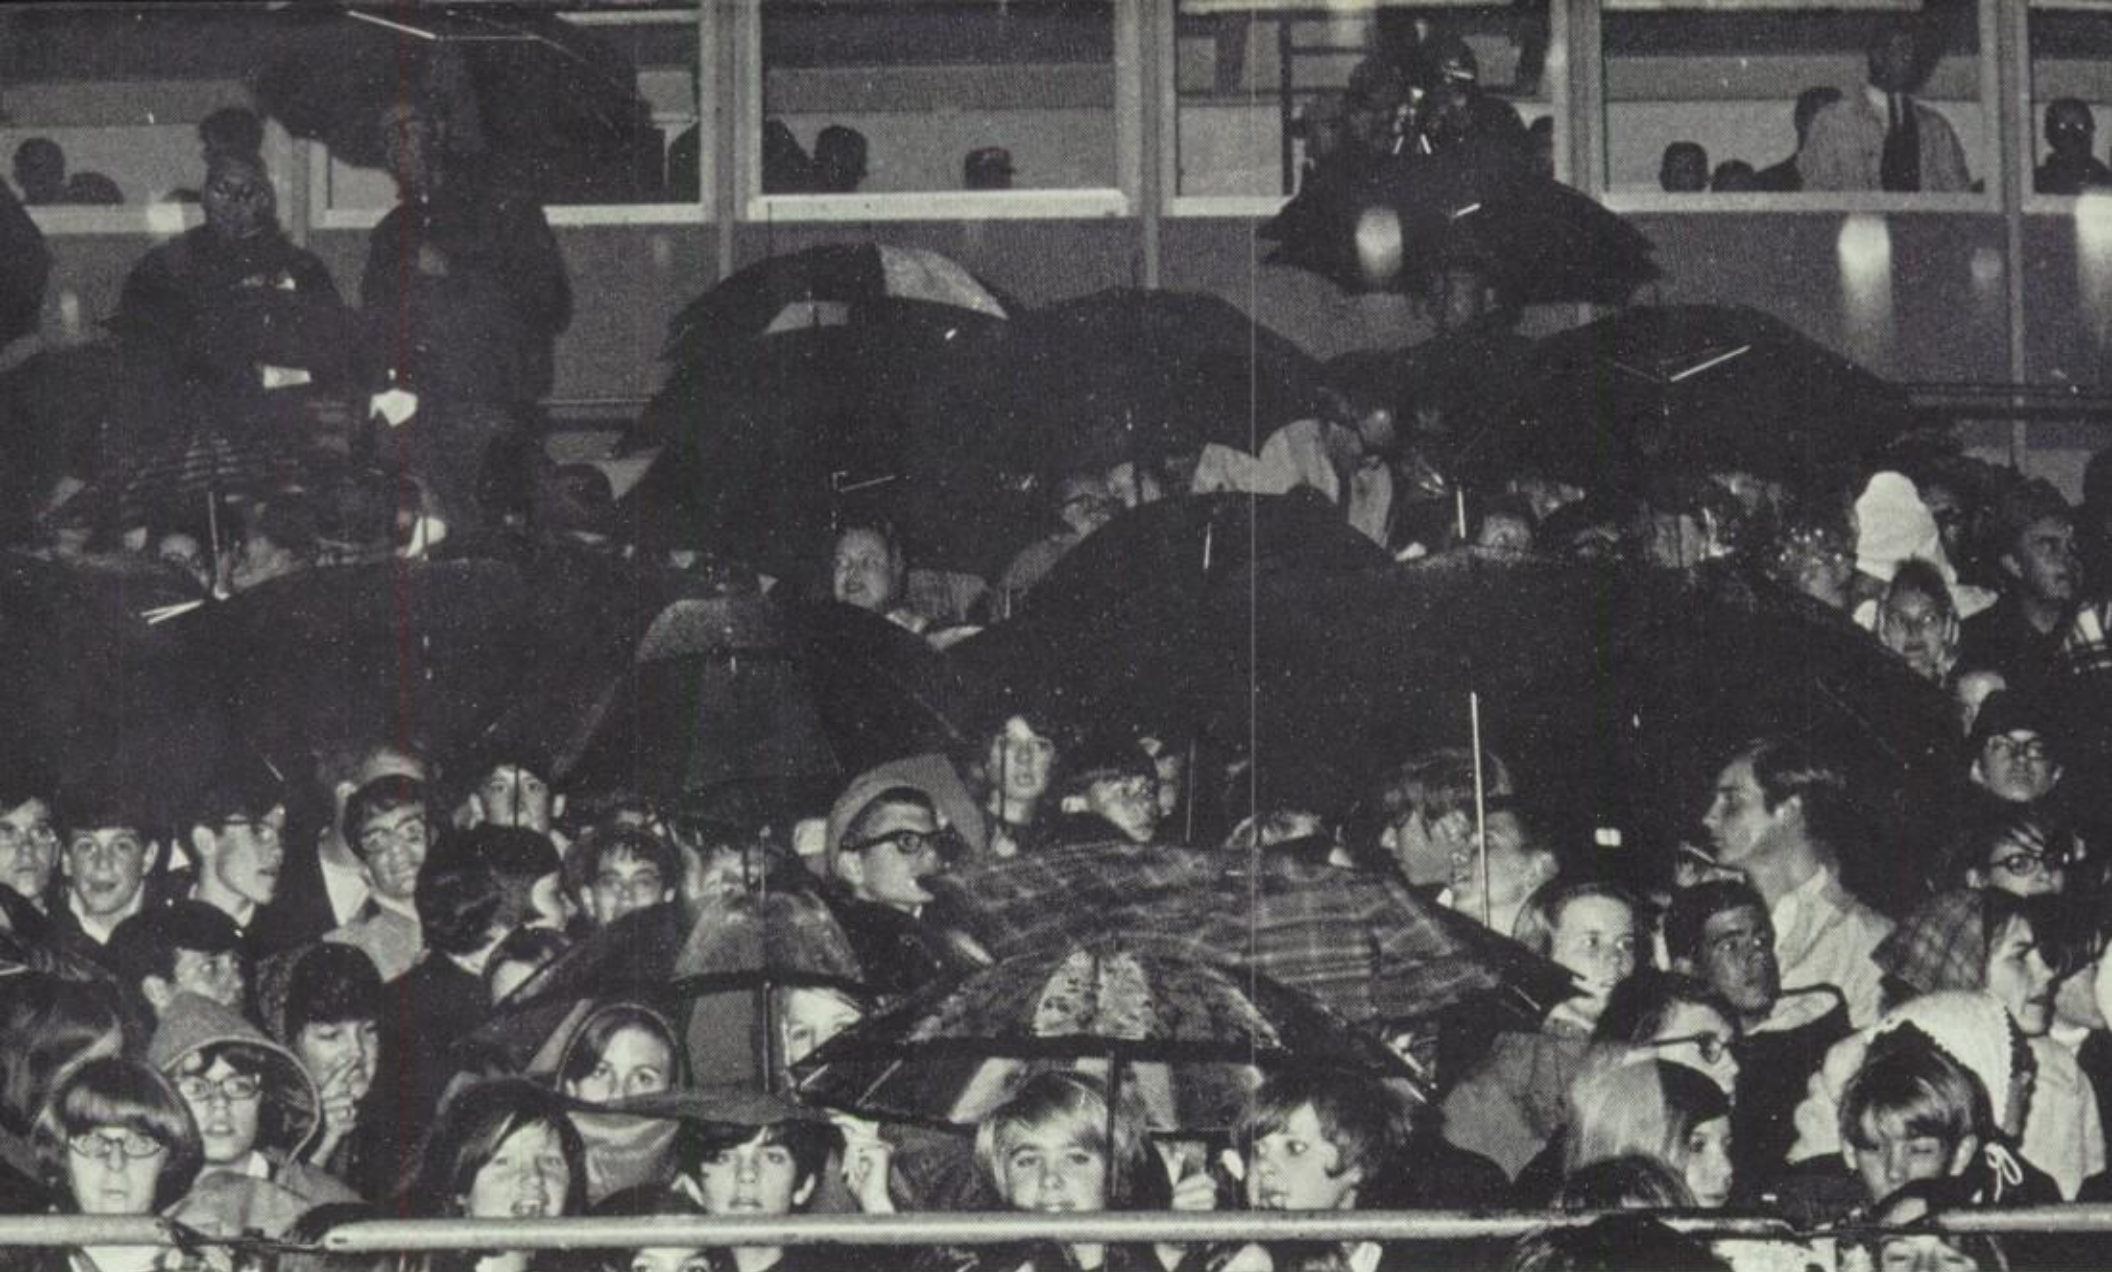

Homecoming Spirit Soars Despite First Half Dampening From Steady Downpour

Hoping to take the coveted first prize, sophomores eagerly watch as their float is towed by the reviewing stand.

Trying to avoid the rain, spectators huddle under blossoming umbrellas determined to watch the entire Homecoming game.

Reverberating cheers and shooting flames were evident as Worthington High School opened its Homecoming Weekend, Thursday evening, October 12 at a spirited pep rally and bonfire. Following a dinner given by Y-Teens, for the team, the rally was highlighted by a Cheerleading Club skit and the announcement of Homecoming Queen and Court.

Friday night, at the game, true loyalty was revealed as football fans braved a steady downpour lasting the entire first half. Despite dampened decorations, class Homecoming floats, paraded around the field for judging. Sophomores stole first place with a gigantic can of "Raid" exterminating the Yellow Jackets. Juniors were judged second best with "Happiness is a Taste of Honey!"

After Homecoming Queen, Sue Coombs, was crowned by Dick Carlisle, Student Body President, she and her court, Sandy Werth, senior; Sandy Day, junior; Jackie Naehring, sophomore, and Corky Nolt, freshman, sought shelter under umbrellas.

Characters from the comic strip "The Wizard of Id," danced from the walls of the red-and-blue streamered gym, Saturday night. The theme, "Homecoming Is. . .", was portrayed by colorful posters, such as, "Homecoming Is Rain!" Guests danced to the music of Al Meyer's Quintet and watched the recrowning of Queen Sue.

Showers fail to spoil happy smiles of Corky Nolt, Sandy Day, Queen Sue Coombs, Sandy Werth and Jackie Naehring.

Mystery Unfolds As The Bat Strikes

Blood streaming down his face, Pete Jolly as an amnesia victim stumbles in the door, sprawling at the cast's feet.

The Bat, a spine-tingling mystery, complete with a haunted house and secret rooms, a raging thunderstorm and dead bodies falling out of closets was chosen by the Thespians for presentation November 11 and 12. The action revolved around Cornelia Van Gorder, an eccentric, stalwart spinster portrayed by Nancy Kreider and a spook-ridden house made to seem more so by a screeching superstitious maid, Lizzie Allen, as characterized by Sheri Woodruff.

The plot thickened as the entire cast became prime suspects in the murder of a prominent banker and the subsequent disappearance of the bank's money. Love interest was provided by Greg West as the slain banker's nephew and Carol Bazewick as Cornelia's niece. The diabolical detective, Scott Metzger, was highly unorthodox in his probing of Barry Kilch's ethics as the doctor. Murder, deception, terror and suspense prevailed until the final moments when the crafty detective was foiled in his own trap.

Aptly directed by Sue Aurand and Holly Ray under the guidance of Mr. David Polk, The Bat flew a straight path to success.

An ominous call startles Cornelia.

Pete Jolly and Greg West interrogate Scott Metzger alias the Bat.

The entire cast of The Bat assembles on the set for a conversational interlude in the rapid dramatic action.

Contemplating a delicious Gretel, Nancy Kreider as witch clutches her tearful prey, Cindy Anderton.

Scowls of Stepmother Katrin (Sherri Koenig) go unnoticed as the father, played by Bill Werle, turns deaf ears to all but his fiddle.

Forest Tale, Hansel and Gretel, Enchants Children

Mark Holderman's Hansel craftily outwits the Witch.

Poverty and hunger persuade the parents of Hansel and Gretel to abandon their children in the forest. Coaxed by tantalizing music, the youngsters arrive at the cottage of a wicked witch. But, through their own ingenuity and the help of the Forest Fairy and Trudi, a cat, Hansel and Gretel save themselves and the other captive children.

This traditional tale was presented on January twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth. Talented acting, directing by Miss Jane Gordon and Janet Holly, stage managing by Scott Metzger, and the efforts of many committees contributed to an enjoyable Thespian production.

Listening to timely advice of the Forest Fairy (Janet Pine) Gretel and Trudi (Sherri Woodruff) discover the Witch's flaw.

Midwinter Night's Dream Becomes Reality

The heavily-laden table appeals to Mrs. Rupp.

Enchanted with each other and the dance are Bob Cranston and Marty Baasch.

Heralding the 1967 holidays, was Worthington High School's annual Christmas Formal. The theme of "Midwinter Night's Dream" was introduced as guests entered the Christmas-papered lobby and viewed a blue-lit Christmas tree. The pine tree motif was continued in the gym with huge snow-sprayed trees placed in corners and near the throne. Serving as center pieces were miniature net Christmas trees. Silver stars suspended from the red and blue crepe papered ceiling completed the transformation.

Jimmy Llewellyn and the Noveliers join force with the Mixed Ensemble to present entertainment.

The climax of the evening occurred when Sandy Werth, escorted by Jim Wilson, was crowned Cardinal queen. Sandy received her crown and traditional kiss from Cardinal business manager Kerry Greene and last year's queen, Ann Winter, passed on the traditional charm bracelet.

Seven girls nominated by the student body were judged on the basis of personality, appearance, and intelligence. The remaining six girls making up the Christmas court were freshman, Missy Jolly, escorted by Mark Denbow; sophomore, Colleen Carter, escorted by Dave Carter; juniors, Sue Benner, escorted by Jim Savage and Peggy Blackmore, escorted by Roger McLaughlin; and seniors, Sue Coombs, escorted by Gary Marginean and Jean Folk, escorted by Rod Michel.

Overall view of the regal occasion would have looked like this.

Shortly after the coronation, the girls obligingly posed for this group shot. Jean Folk, Sue Coombs, Missy Jolly, Queen Sandy Werth, Colleen Carter, Peg Blackmore, Sue Benner.

At the announcement of queen, Sandy emits a surprised gasp as her entourage expresses delight.

Radiant Queen Sandy exudes warmth.

Blending voices in seasonal melody, the Mixed Ensemble carols at the dance.

One of the highlights of the musical occurs when the delightful "Telephone Hour" is cleverly staged by the teens.

Lyrical Birdie Bursts Merrily Onto Spring Scene

Color, gaiety and overwhelming spirit were the trademarks of this year's operetta, Bye Bye Birdie, presented March 15, 16 and 17 under the direction of Mrs. Davis and Mr. Haney.

The swinging, up-dated version of a rock singer (Dave Keathley) bestowing "One Last Kiss" before Army induction on an adoring fan (Nancy Kreider) found the teeny-boppers brightly festooned in mini-skirts and sweatshirts.

The sub-plot involved the singer's manager (Cliff Davis) who was unable to choose between his secretary-sweetheart (Kathy DeMerit) and his long-suffering Mama (Marcia Rheinscheld).

The hilarity resulting from the girlfriend-doting mother clash coupled with the teen-agers' hysterical adulation of the singer, Birdie, led to a frenzied two hours of lively singing and dancing.

The bubbling, bouncing Bye Bye Birdie was a resounding success and the proceeds finished off the year-long endeavor by the choir to furnish one hundred and twelve new robes.

Pursued by a group of Shriners, Kathy DeMerit as Rose shrieks and leaps onto a table to elude their grasps.

Nancy Kreider as Kim and Dave Keathley as her idol, Birdie, discover that they still have a "Lot of Livin'" to do.

Manager Albert (Cliff Davis) tries to "cut the apron strings" to the dismay of Mama (Marcia Rheinscheld).

"Kids" are the subject of this parental tirade led in chorus by Pete Jolly and Raean Moses (center) as Kim's parents.

Assistant Coach Speaks At All-Sports

Dance Honoring Fifty-Seven Athletes

"W.H.S. Holds the Torch of Victory" proclaimed the theme of the 1968 All-Sports Dance, on March 30. Honoring the senior athletes, decorations and theme were based on the 1968 Olympics and the Olympic rings were a repeated motif.

Murals along the walls depicted the many sports in which WHS can call itself victor.

Sponsored by the Cheerleading Club, the dance was girl-boy and provided entertainment by the Norm Tyac Quintet and the Newfolk. Guest speaker was Bill Mallory, defensive coach for the varsity defense of the Ohio Buckeyes. Stressing the importance of extra effort, he related it to other fields as well as sports.

Senior athletes were then presented with small trophies in recognition of the time and effort devoted to their sport.

Carolyn Clancy and Barb Kaser award Rob Carter.

Cheerleaders, Debbie Ohman and Gail Frey, stretch helping hands to Terry Gnezda with the decorations.

Booths representing a host of clubs offered the large crowd a wide range of sights and sounds.

Winter Carnival Dispels Student Doldrums

Endeavors of Art Club are shown by member Kay Montgomery for the inspection of a prospective buyer.

On February 24, 1968 the area surrounding the Worthington High School gymnasium resembled scenes from a three-ring circus. The rollicking atmosphere was the result of the first annual Winter Carnival.

A money-making brainstorm sponsored by Student Council, the carnival featured booths run by the many clubs at W.H.S. At nine in the morning, preparations were begun for the moment when the doors would open at one o'clock. With nearly 2300 in attendance, the carnival proved to be a profitable venture.

One of the features was Thespians presentation of "Silas Slade's Revenge" to an audience eating popcorn sold by Debate Club. Afterwards, members of the National Honor Society turned out to help the Chronicle staff with an Italian-style spaghetti dinner and a canteen ended the day.

Mr. Merrilees warns Mrs. Redick to stay away from the stocks, a popular means of vengeance found at the fair.

Hi-Y took advantage of the average student's pent-up emotions, demonstrated by Craig Dean, by offering a junk car to wreck.

Hawaiian Prom Hails Class Of '68 With Warm Aloha

Flaming torches that cast a jungle light over the entrance created the first clue to the tropical paradise of the prom, "Aloha, 68". Once inside, a path made its way through a tropical rain forest with the sounds of drums, native calls, and fearsome animals piercing through the thick foliage.

After entering, guests found that they had walked through the mouth of a gigantic primitive god. Guests gazing at the tropical fish in the "aquarium," speculated on the secret of the concession stand's underwater effect. For the first time, the balconies were used at a prom; tables were set up and refreshments were served for the relaxations of the guests.

A threatening volcano loomed in one corner, while an imposing god, sheltered beneath a thatched roof at the center of the gym, sat amidst sacrificial offerings. Mysterious voices emanated from the god, relating ancient Hawaiian legends.

As the music of the Chuck Timberlake Orchestra ceased, balloons drifted from the ceiling to the outstretched hands of waiting couples. Each couple was presented with a hand-painted glass ball as a memento of "Aloha, 68."

Lured by its mysterious powers, Dave Shepard and Linda Calendine examine the primitive Tiki god.

Tiki god centerpieces were sold by sophomore servers Mike Mueller, Charlotte Weller and Gayle Truitt.

Retreating to the lobby, Larry Ray and Sue Russel talk, framed by the beauty of a Hawaiian seascape.

Couples mingle on the dance floor in the shadow of a seething volcano.

Beth McAllister and Kevin McNamara absorb the aquarium's special effects.

Sophomores, Linda Werth and Greg McCormack are dressed in the style of the islands as they serve refreshments to juniors, Mike Yost and Jo Buckley.

Seniors Explore College In Mother Is A Freshman

Pointer College men check out the latest addition to the freshman scene, a classmate's mother, Abigail Fortitude Adams, portrayed by Carol Lohr.

Although swamped with research papers, graduation and last minute activities, the seniors managed to reach solid ground long enough to present the play, Mother Is A Freshman on May 10 and 11.

The play opened with frenzied Susan Adams (Janene Lacey) bemoaning the fact that her mother (Carol Lohr) is entering college with her. Preceding their arrival, rumors are spread concerning the campus invasion of this "older woman."

Much to Susan's chagrin, her admirers find her mother highly attractive. Unaware of Susan's imagined romance with him, her zoology professor (Dick Woods) falls in love with her mother.

All ended well at the college dance as Susan rejoined her peers and her mother and the professor make future plans.

College dean, Tom Johnson lectures Professor Dick Woods on faculty-student relations.

Carolyn Conroy extolls the virtues of an imaginary ice-cream sundae to a disinterested Janene Lacey.

Lounging in the dormitory lobby, the girls mull over the topic of boys.

Opening chords of "Onward Ye Peoples" ring out, as the senior members prepare to sing with the WHS Choir for the last time.

Mershon Sets Stage For 1968 Commencement

Senior Class President John Donovan and Valedictorian Diana Harwick listen closely to Salutatorian Jim Long.

Breaking the long-standing tradition of having the commencement and baccalaureate services on the school grounds, the Class of '68 received their diplomas at Mershon Auditorium on the Ohio State Campus, Tuesday evening, June 4, 1968. The decision to move commencement exercises from the football field was based on the unpredictable weather of past years and the size of the graduating class which numbered four hundred.

The Reverend Ray L. Harwick gave the invocation and benediction and the Reverend George E. Parkinson of the Christ United Presbyterian Church, Canton, Ohio, delivered a lively address entitled "You Can Make It."

Mr. H.C. McCord, Superintendent, then presented the Charles E. Jefferson Awards to Valedictorian Diane Harwick and Salutatorian James Long and Mr. Donald F. Huffman, Secretary of the Cardinal Boosters, presented the Heischman Scholarship Award to Ben Maiden.

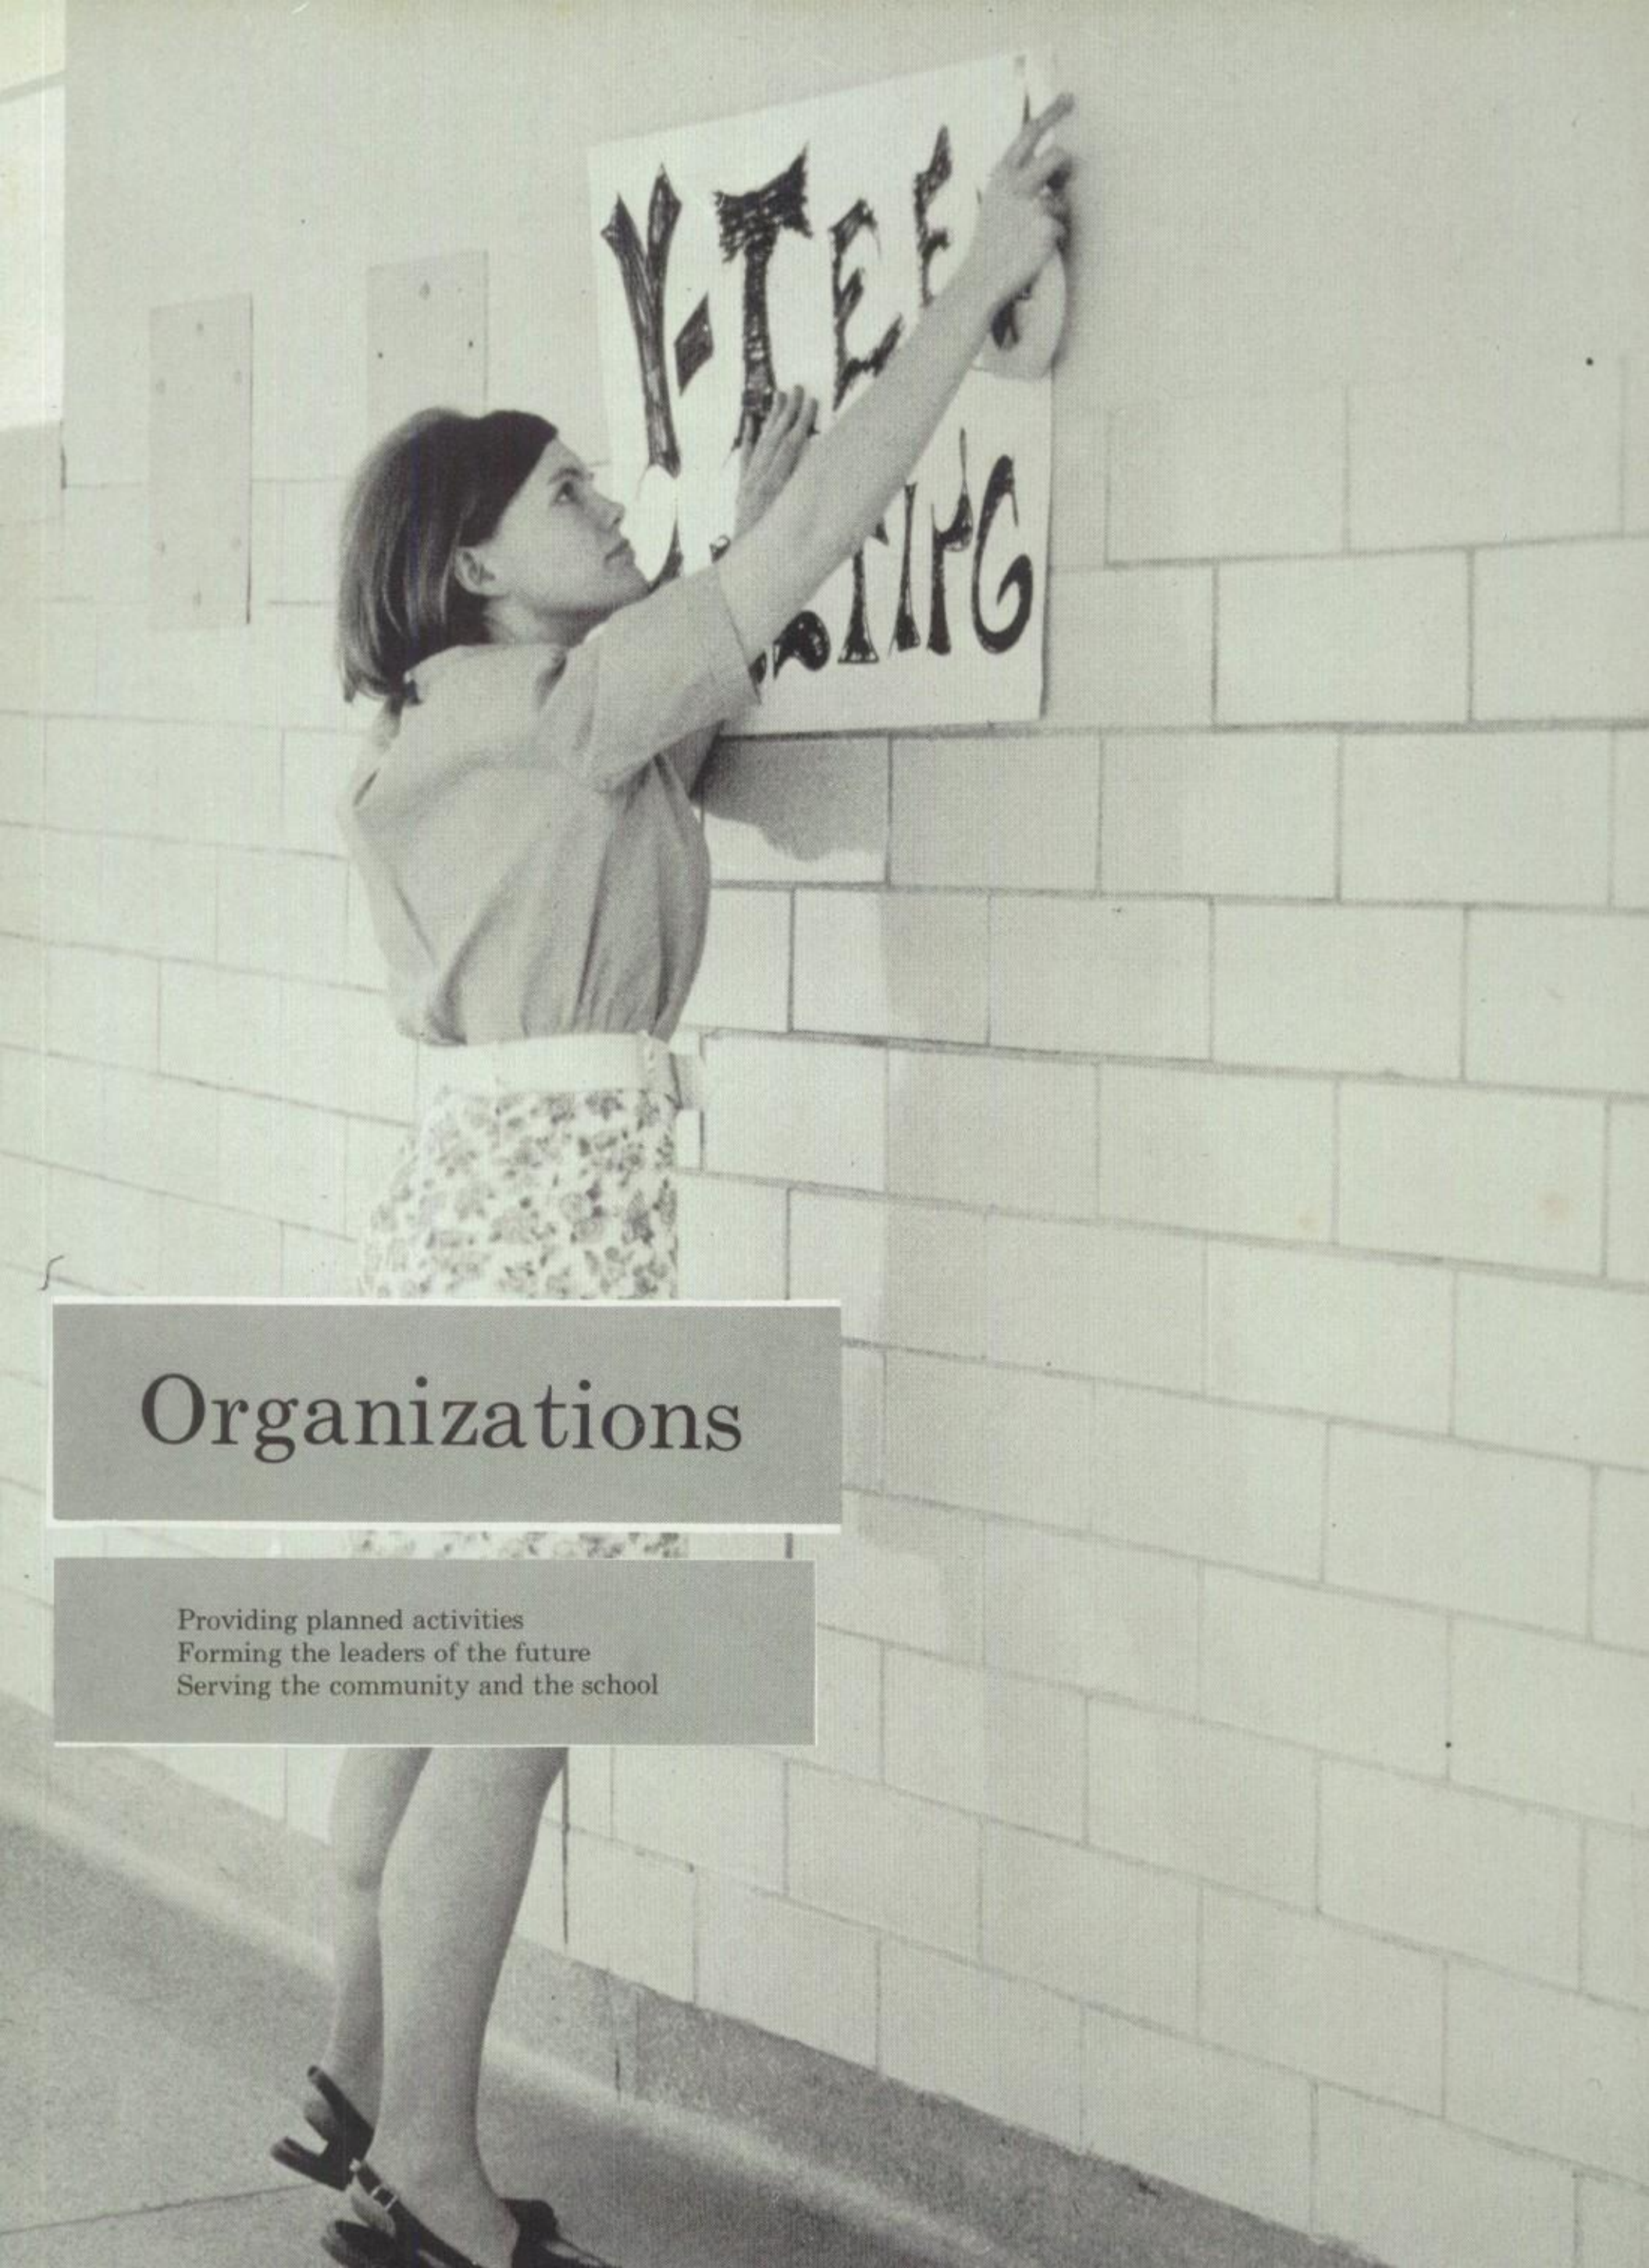

The 50-year graduates were recognized and following the presentation of the senior class, diplomas were awarded by Mr. Robert Keltner, President of the Board of Education.

After singing the Alma Mater and receiving benediction, the graduates of 1968 recessed to the solemn tones of Meyerbeer's "Coronation March."

Dwight Miller accepts Faculty Memorial Scholarship Award from Mr. Rousculp.

Four-pointers were Laura Luedemann, Sue Aurand and Doug Dovenbarger.

AFS Stock Sales Bring Asian Nicki To WHS

Sponsoring a foreign student to promote international understanding, the American Field Service undertook many fund-raising activities. Members vended colorful Christmas cards and international cookbooks, and during the fall and spring, the organization sold twenty-five cent shares to finance next year's student.

Other projects included a speaker on the Americans Abroad Program and, at an international Christmas party, foreign foods were sampled and customs discussed.

Featuring a skit by foreign students from neighboring schools, the AFS assembly was the focus for many events. The schedule began with a tea honoring the guests. The following day, they attended classes with Worthington students and presented the assembly.

Coming to Worthington from Bangkok, Thailand, Ngarnpak Charoensak (Nicki) was the foreign student for 1967-68.

As Gayle Studer, president of AFS said, "The foreign exchange student is not just for AFS. She or he is for the whole school." Other leaders of the club included Holly Church, vice-president; Karen Jensen, secretary; Sandi Foster, treasurer; and advisors, Mr. Lowery and Miss Malo.

Nicki takes a quick bicycle tour of Worthington with Val Griffith, her American "sister", as a friendly guide.

Energetic Student Council Concocts Winter Carnival

Active committees formed the backbone of this year's Student Council which sponsored several immense projects such as the Winter Carnival and the Homecoming dance and bonfire.

Under Student Body and Council President Dick Carlisle, many new policies and measures took shape. Meeting every two weeks, the General Assembly voted to handle the coat check and concession stand at basketball games, gather canned food for charity at Christmas and widen the "generation gap" by agreeing to another Student-Faculty basketball clash. This annual bit of hilarity, the proceeds of which go to charity, broke the Faculty's three year winning streak, much to their chagrin. These projects were undertaken and carried out by various committees within Student Council.

Advisor Mrs. Redick led the busy student government with the aid of officers: Cliff Davis, vice-president; Sandy Werth, secretary; Jim Wilson, treasurer; and Margie Jones, recorder.

Before the election assembly, this year's officers Cliff Davis and Dick Carlisle make their final speeches.

National Honor Society Gives Valuable Service To Chronicle At Carnival

Fulfilling their role as a service organization, National Honor Society volunteered its members to help with the Chronicle spaghetti dinner after the Winter Carnival. The disassembling of other club's booths was also accomplished with the help of NHS. carnival booths was also accomplished with the help of NHS.

Operation of the east and west bookstores came to a successful close after having provided students and faculty alike with entertaining and educational paper-back books.

National Honor Society is a national honorary organization founded to recognize qualities of leadership, citizenship and scholarship in high school students. Members are chosen by a faculty vote from the upper third of their class and in March an induction ceremony is held with the program including a guest speaker. This year for the first time, the members were presented with their NHS pins which had been purchased for them by the club.

During the 1967-68 school year, the club was led by Ben Maiden as president and Ralph Lowery as vice-president with the guidance of Mr. Nusken. Treasurer Carolyn Conroy took charge of balancing the budget. Perhaps the most time-consuming task of managing the bookstores was assumed by Jodi Baber as secretary.

Aides Sacrifice Study Halls To Lend Hand

Study halls were forsaken in order that the two main offices, the two guidance offices, the library and the health office might be adequately staffed.

The duties of the main office girls were to write passes, answer phones, deliver messages and sort mail. Amidst the constant activity of these offices, they remained responsible Girl Fridays.

The guidance office aides answered phones and filed, filed, filed. It was their job to keep the thousands of records on store accessible to the counselors.

The library staff took attendance there, collected fines, searched for requested books and worked the checkout desk. They were recruited from students who did well in ninth grade library science.

Health office assistants had an added burden of responsibility. Mrs. Bernhagen frequently taught health classes and was ill a part of this year. The office was placed under the jurisdiction of her aides.

Writing passes occupies Peggy Early and Beth McAllister.

Spanish Honor Society Goes Mexican, Cuban

SNHS initiations are a dramatic experience performed by candlelight.

The addition to the faculty of Mrs. Gonzalez, who was born and raised in Cuba, and a trip to a Mexican Fiesta at Mershon Auditorium highlighted the year for Spanish National Honor Society students and introduced them to the customs of Spanish speaking countries.

The January initiation of twenty-eight Spanish students, by invitation only, more than doubled the club's membership.

Every year, a state convention held in Columbus convenes to elect state officers. The delegates representing Worthington were the 1967-68 state vice-president, Chris DeGraw and Janet Kramer.

The officers under advisor Mrs. Hook, who planned a tea to honor former WHS Spanish teacher, Mrs. Ruth Clausing, were: Jackie McKee, president; Gayle Studer, vice-president; Jean Folk, second vice-president; Diane Brooks, secretary; Kevin Gross, treasurer; Stephanie Reichert, second treasurer.

Languages Explored In Russian And Latin Clubs

Students wishing to learn more Russian culture met together to form the Russian Club. Mr. Pashovich, Advisor and President Kevin Goudy worked diligently to plan the club's programs.

Funds from a bake sale sponsored by the members with the leadership of Steve Finch, vice-president and Roger Brigham, secretary were collected by Treasurer Carol Williams. The money was used to finance a trip to the Russian exhibit at OSU, movies and a Christmas party complete with Russian food and dancing.

Skits for club meetings and the Roman Banquet were the projects of Latin Club which organized the second semester. The powerful leadership of President Beth Brough and the dedication of Advisor Mrs. Drumm proved to be a dynamic combination.

The pair with the capable aid of Vice-president Doug Dovenbarger and Secretary-Treasurer Peg Miller staged the most successful banquet ever.

Spanish Students Establish A New Club

With the aid of Mrs. Gonzales, the Spanish students organized their own new club. Writing a constitution and establishing the club's programs were the tasks of President Chris DeGraw. Able assistance was given to Chris by the hard work of Mary McMullen, vice-president; Kay McLaughlin, secretary; and Janet Kramer, treasurer.

The most important project of the club was to sponsor and engineer a Spanish Banquet at Christmas time. Club members dressed in festive, colorful costumes, sang traditional Christmas carols in Spanish and danced a rhythmic "hat dance." Guests enjoyed paella, a dish of rice, lobster and chicken which was prepared by Mrs. Gonzales and the students.

Early in the year, during the organizational period, members were entertained by Maria Gonzales president of the club at Whetstone. Maria not only sang a Spanish ballad and dramatized a poem but also exchanged ideas for later meetings.

The final meeting honored the Seniors in the club with gifts and featured Miss Makelin who spoke on bull-fighting.

Yearbooks consume long hours of writing and counting copy, laying out pages, taking pictures and selling ads as the Cardinal staff soon discovered. However, Editor Kathy DeMerit, with her encouraging words and constructive criticism, instilled a sense of achievement and great pride in her hard-working staff.

Besides the actual yearbook duties, the group, under the direction of Business Manager Kerry Greene, took over the elections and crowning of the Cardinal Queen and sponsored a January canteen.

Miss Hottenroth, as Cardinal advisor, offered her room as a nesting place for the staff. The room bustled with activity, laughter, frayed nerves, fun and crises the entire year. In general, there was never a dull moment.

Assistant Editor Leslie Smith collected a flock of juniors, to watch, learn from and occasionally lend a helping hand to the senior staff, in preparation for the 1968-69 Cardinal.

Chronicle, Photographers Record School Events

Mark Forman helps at Chronicle dinner.

Six pages of Chronicle, sold in homerooms every two weeks, was the brainchild of Editor Mark Forman.

The paper boasted the largest staff ever which consisted of two journalism classes taught by Chronicle Advisor Mr. Mansfield. Besides the experience of working on a publication, the classes received additional information through speakers from the journalism profession and tours through the Columbus Dispatch and WLWC-TV.

Aiding the newspaper and yearbook pictorially was the Photography Club. Under Advisor Mr. Heaps, President and Cardinal photographer Phil Wilson and Vice-president and Chronicle photographer Tom Dew, the club established the goal of teaching members the fundamentals of good photography. The club was originated specifically for the benefit of school publications.

Projects, Meetings Occupy Junior Y-Teens

It was an educational year, during which the community benefited, for Junior Y-Teens.

The variety of subjects covered in meetings included a speaker on the Mormon religion, movies on poverty and making ice-cream and paper flowers.

For service, the club donated food to needy families in Worthington during the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons.

President Steph Hill led the club in a Powder Puff football game with officers Drucie Wetterauer, Susan Jones and Ruth Keller completing the lineup.

Senior Y-Teens Study Religions, Social Matters

Every Thursday students flock to concession stand to get Y-Teens doughnuts.

Speakers brightened the Senior Y-Teens meetings as Sister Mary Carol spoke on the "new nun," and Mrs. Miller from Florence Crittenton Home for Unwed Mothers illustrated the problem with the movie, Phoebe.

The girls also sold lilies to collect money for crippled children, made scrapbooks for hospitals, sold doughnuts every Thursday and sponsored the Christmas Formal and a canteen.

The busy year was the doing of President Sally Shannon, under the advice of Miss Stimpfle and Mrs. Kamm. Beth DeMerit served as vice-president, Wanda Walker as treasurer and Kathy Postle as secretary.

Hi-Y Wreaks Havoc On Junked Car At Carnival

All suppressed emotions and desires were released via the Senior Hi-Y car-destruction booth at the Winter Carnival. An old dilapidated car was hauled to the school parking lot and people paid a fee to demolish it as they pleased.

During the winter, the Hi-Y member basketball team had a highly successful season in which they lost only one game.

Advising the club, which President Al Cummins stated is "basically for service" were Mr. Todd, Mr. Diffendahl and Mr. R. Taylor. The officers were: Mike Elliott, vice-president; Brent Turner, chaplin; Chuck DeWitt, secretary; John Circle, treasurer.

A judo demonstration, a basketball league and a swimming party highlighted the year for the Junior Hi-Y under President John Snouffer, Vice-President Greg Yost, Secretary-Treasurer Rob McCauley, Sergeant-at-Arms Jim Albright and Charlie Costelli, chaplin. Mr. Root and Mr. Probasco served as advisors for the active club.

Acropolis Prints, Thespians Present WHS Talent

Acropolis Editor Cathy Imboden very expressively offers her opinion on an entry.

In February, the annual barrage of creativity and talent from the student body poured into the room of Acropolis Advisor Miss Nedra Stimpfle. The editorial staff spent many long hours reading and weeding. The finished product, a finely edited literary magazine, The Acropolis, was published in May under Editor Cathy Imboden.

The publication, of which the great part was poetry, included the efforts of students from first grade through twelfth.

Illustrations were added in co-operation with Mr. Kuyper and his art classes.

Willingness to work hard marked this year's Thespians who produced and presented two plays: the fall play, The Bat, which was directed by club Advisor Mr. David Polk and the children's play, Hansel and Gretel.

Meeting once a month, the club encountered a variety of subjects such as a marionette demonstration and a lesson in the art of improvisation, courtesy of Mr. Polk's Dramatics class. The member also provided the backbone on the committees for the plays.

Serving as officers were: President Sue Aurand, who also doubled as student director for The Bat; Leslie Smith, vice-president; Sherri Koenig, secretary; Cliff Davis, treasurer.

Chessmen Move Into Tourneys; Grab State Ranking

Under the skillful eye of Advisor Mr. Steitz, the chess team hit the boards at every meeting for long, grueling hours of practice in preparation for the tournament which they planned to enter. The diligence paid off for the members as they were able to land an impressive fourth place in the City tournaments and a ranking of thirteen in the State Tournaments.

The club generated much interest in their original booth at the winter Carnival which boasted a computer. The machine was programmed to play either chess or checkers and enthusiasts of the games were invited to challenge it. Needless to say, the machine, as usual, conquered all.

Leading the club through its various projects and tournaments were John Jernigan as president, Bob Eyerman as vice-president, Pradip Rustagi as treasurer and Dick Henninge as secretary.

The Art Club undertook the year-long duty of providing art work for teacher's room and bulletin boards under the direction of President Jackie McKee, vice-president Sue Plaisted, secretary Francie Barton and Treasurer Stephanie DiCenzo.

Every Saturday the Debate Club journeyed to a tournament to fight on the topic of control of criminal investigation procedures. The pugnacious members were led by President Carol Hibbs, Vice-President Bruce Turnbull and Secretary-Treasurer Mike Marsh.

Future Teachers of America originated as a service club to further student interest in education. The members earn points by aiding the Worthington faculty and attending and participating in the meetings. After attaining a specified number of points, the FTA'er truly interested in the field of education is qualified to gain practical experience through student teaching.

This year's group, at the suggestion of President Ellen Combs, took charge of promoting National Education Week through a Teacher Recognition Day. Each teacher was given a pot of geraniums to display in order to remind the students to express their appreciation.

The other officers, under Advisor Mrs. Burkhardt, were Nicki Gnezda, vice-president; Sue McLavy, secretary, Kathy Devine, treasurer.

The Health Careers Club dedicated itself to making life more enjoyable for the underprivileged. The children at Franklin Village were the first to benefit at Christmas, when they received cake and ice cream. Bookmarks and May baskets brightened the home for the Aged Deaf.

Under the direction of Advisor and School Nurse Mrs. Bernhagen, who also was guest speaker for the club at times, they held a mother-daughter tea in May. New members were initiated and the 1967-68 officers relinquishing their positions were: Dee Dee VanBuskirk, president; Marsha Barkhurst and Beth DeMerit, vice-presidents; Kathy Lewis, secretary; Jackie Dunlap, trasurer.

Hoisting geraniums for Teacher Recognition Day are Cheryl Tittle, Carol Clark, Darelyn Baker.

At an H.C.C. tea, Janet Kramer, Dee Dee VanBuskirk and Mary McMillen serve refreshments.

W-Debs Learn Art Of Homemaking

Making festive flowers at a meeting are Cathy Trantina, Brenda Posey.

It was a busy year for the W-Debs as Carol Nelson, as program Chairman, planned many interesting activities for the club.

The Debs' culinary tastes were cultivated at a potluck supper in September, a trip to a Japanese Tea House in March, and a mother-daughter tea in May. They had a chance to demonstrate their own talents by baking and sending cookies to Poindexter Village.

An interior decorator Mrs. Krabaugh, was engaged to speak to the club on future home planning.

The officers who led the club through this full year were: Margy Jones, president; Brenda Posey, vice-president; Cathy Trantina, secretary-treasurer.

Star-Gazers Scan The Skies With New Telescope

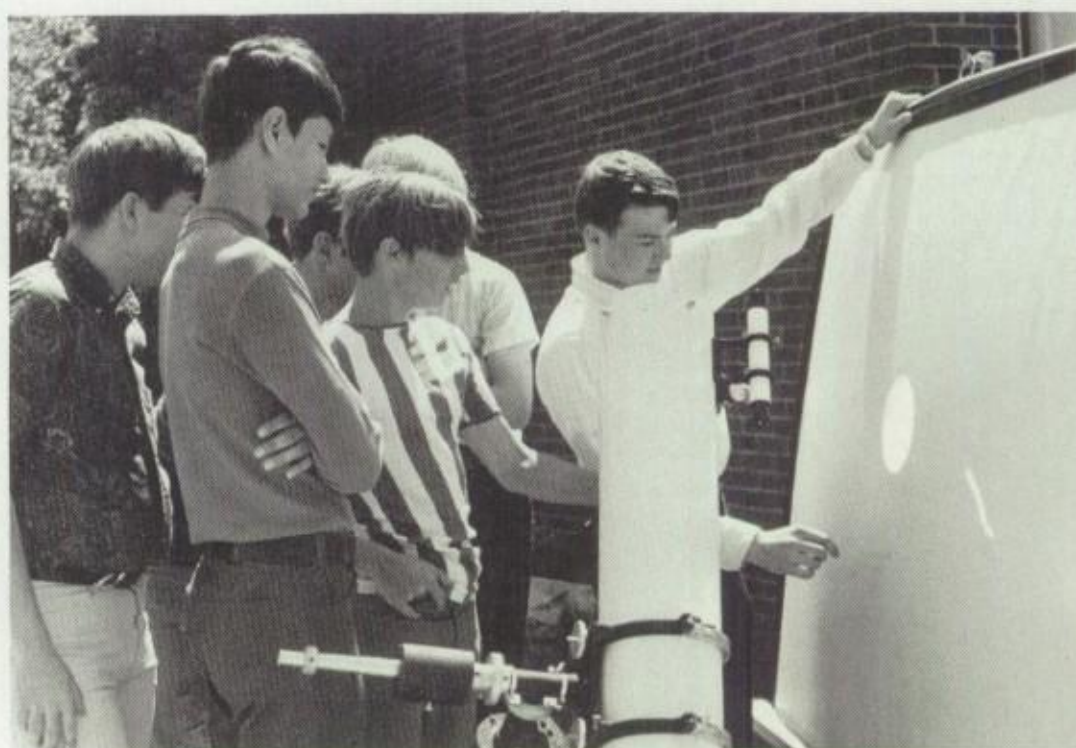

Astronomy Club members, Randy Head, Kurt Badertscher, Roger Gallagher, and Dennis Cligrow adjust telescope for future observations.

Another step in the long-range completion of the Worthington observatory was accomplished by the purchase and installation of a new telescope. The interior of the structure was completely repainted and a drive was put in to follow the stars.

Despite the advantage of a telescope, night-time observations were still hindered by the frequently cloudy skies and bad weather.

Program chairmen recruited speakers from such places as Battelle and the Columbus Astronomical Society. The club later took tours of Perkins and Otterbein's observatories. Money for projects came from a canteen held February 9.

Although their heads were in the clouds, President Cliff Davis, Vice-President Roger Gallagher, Treasurer John Jernigan and Secretary Kurt Badertscher, under advisors, Mr. Linzell and Mr. Guitry, kept their feet planted firmly on the ground.

Sun spots are the topic of conversation presented by Chuck Jernigan to a gathering of club members outside the astronomy storage room.

Ecology And Radio Clubs

Find Interest In Tours

Ecology members listen intently.

Both Radio Club and Ecology Club supplemented their year's programs with field trips.

In April, Radio Club teamed up with Astronomy Club to visit Perkins Observatory and examine the radio telescope.

Winter hiking in the Hocking Hills occupied the Ecology Club on one of many excursions to state parks. Visits to stone quarries in northern Ohio and an overnight canoe trip were also planned.

The increased activities of Radio Club included code and theory lessons enabling more members to become licensed operators. Members also saw a movie on communications, set up a new antenna, and participated in Field Day, an emergency station operating for twenty four hours, the last weekend in June.

Officers of Radio Club were Bill Warner, president; Randy Crews, vice-president; Dave Hein, secretary; Steve Rigsby, treasurer; and advisor Mrs. Cowgill.

Programs presented by Ecology Club were on such diverse topics as mountain climbing, Indian artifacts, bird migration, and the tropical rain forest. The Club also began plans for the nature trail into a geology trail and an ecology trail.

Officers were Craig Kramer, president; Greg Beck, vice-president; Janet Brown, treasurer; Julie Morse, secretary; and advisors Mr. McBurney and Mr. Linzell.

DCT Program Guides Students In Professions

The newly-formed Diversified Co-operative Training Program, brainchild of Advisor Mr. Hindes, gives students a taste of the professional world on a half-day, work-study plan.

Interested students must fill out an application in their junior year. Mr. Hindes then screens applicants carefully and selects the members.

The work is fascinating and pertains to the student's field of interest. A few examples of the variety of jobs held this year were Dental and Veterinary Assistants, Draftsman, Interior Decorator, and Carpenter.

Club officers were: Ben Brooks, president; Lee Tracy, treasurer; Marcy McMannus, secretary; all of whom engineered the club's many field trips.

John Eckhart designs and evaluates various elevations for the Franklin Engineering Corporation.

Co-operative Office Education is a work-study program which provides practical job training combined with classroom activities. The students accepted by Advisor Mrs. Provost, this year, have held positions such as Bookkeeper, Data Process Machine Operator and File Clerk.

Lewis Disque served as president, Steve Overly as vice-president, Randy Black as secretary and Melinda Smith as treasurer.

Future Business Leaders of America had the distinction of reaping more profits than any other organization in the school's history. Their hugely successful projects included a Christmas candle sale and a Mother's Day candy sale.

Lure Choir, Ensembles

If this year's choir had been a basketball team, they would have lost the game for "traveling."

Sandwiched between singing for various clubs around town and television appearances on "Secret Santa" and "dial-in For Dollars," they managed Christmas and Spring Concerts and a thoroughly polished operetta, Bye, Bye, Birdie. The choir somehow managed to stay around long enough to participate in the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter Assemblies.

The Ensembles were no less busy with the Boys' performing for the Seratoma and Optimists Clubs, the Girls' at Worthington Women's Club and Mixed Ensemble at Brookside Country Club, Welcome Wagon and Lion's Club.

The other vocal groups, Mixed and Girls' Choruses and Freshmen Girls' Glee basked in glory at both concerts and provided invaluable behind-the-scenes support for Choir endeavors.

Scrutinizing new music which Ellen Davis is holding are interested Eileen Janssen and Raean Moses.

Surprised Cheri Myers and Rod McCollum sneak a look at new robes.

New Band Director Begins

Mr. Kenneth Renshler as the new band director, replacing the position vacated by Mr. Robert Hartwell, helped to initiate a renewed interest in the ensemble program. Brass, Clarinet and Flute Choirs were revitalized while the Woodwind Quintet and Trio spent many afternoons practicing music for planned engagements and contests.

Established instrumental groups such as the Concert, Reserve and Symphonic Bands daily reviewed popular and classical music for their annual concerts—the Spring Spectacular, Winter Concert and Outdoor Concert. Patriotism, the theme for the Outdoor Concert was carried out along with the assistance of the Orchestra and Vocal Music Departments. A special concert and discussion group was given this year by the Symphonic Band for the State School for the Deaf.

Not only did the instrumentalists perform in concerts but many students also found time to work for special programs.

During the football season, the Marching Band rehearsed every afternoon to perfect their Friday night presentations. The energetic Pep Band enlivened Basketball half-time and pre-game rallies. Stage Band, a group of music students who like dance music, assisted in the Coyle Stage Band Clinic. Melodies from the operetta Bye Bye Birdie filled the music wing as students practiced after classes for the exciting opening night.

Looking forward to next year, the bands worked on several improvements. New music, instruments and facilities helped to enrich the expanding instrumental program.

Non-Verbal Expression

Combining the traditional two orchestras into one was an innovation tried this year by Mr. Miller, the orchestra director. The newly united orchestra included all students studying string instruments and chosen by audition were those studying brass, woodwind and percussion.

Another step involved in the unification was the elimination of the separate instrumental quartets and ensembles.

Members of the orchestra found themselves involved in a study of music of the modern period from which they selected numbers to perform. The role of music in various aspects of non-verbal communication was also investigated. Mr. Miller sought to give the orchestra an even more modern view by the process of acting out of form in music.

The orchestra enjoyed a very successful year beginning its public performances with the "Symphony in Autumn." An assembly, including the same material as the fall concert, was presented to the school with emphasis on contemporary orchestral literature. Other fine assemblies were presented throughout the year.

A new type of orchestra punch concert was held when the gym doors were opened to "Ruffles and Flourishes—a fine arts punch concert." Listeners partook of refreshments while strolling among works displayed by local artists. A colonial motif was the basis for decorations and costumes.

The "Symphony in Spring" included the "First Movement" of Brahms' "Fourth Symphony," "Circus" by Ernest Toch, and "Overture to Candide" by Leonard Bernstein.

Costumes of juniors, Rick Kissel and Cheryl White add to the theme of the punch concert, "Ruffles and Flourishes."

Sportsmanship Is Goal Of Varsity W

Advancing the ideals of good sportsmanship and fair play in school athletics were set as the goals of this year's Varsity "W" Club by President Ralph Lowery.

The club, consisting of all interested Varsity lettermen, commandeered the Heart Fund Drive in the community enlisting the member athletes for the service.

It was not "all work and no play" for the boys for they took a trip to Cleveland to see a Browns' football game and, later in the year, shared the Howard Johnson swimming pool with the Cheerleading Club for a party.

School Athletic Director Mr. West supervised the club activities. This year's cabinet, along with Ralph, consisted of Dwight Miller as vice-president and Tom Stimpert as secretary-treasurer.

Rain Grounds Cardinals

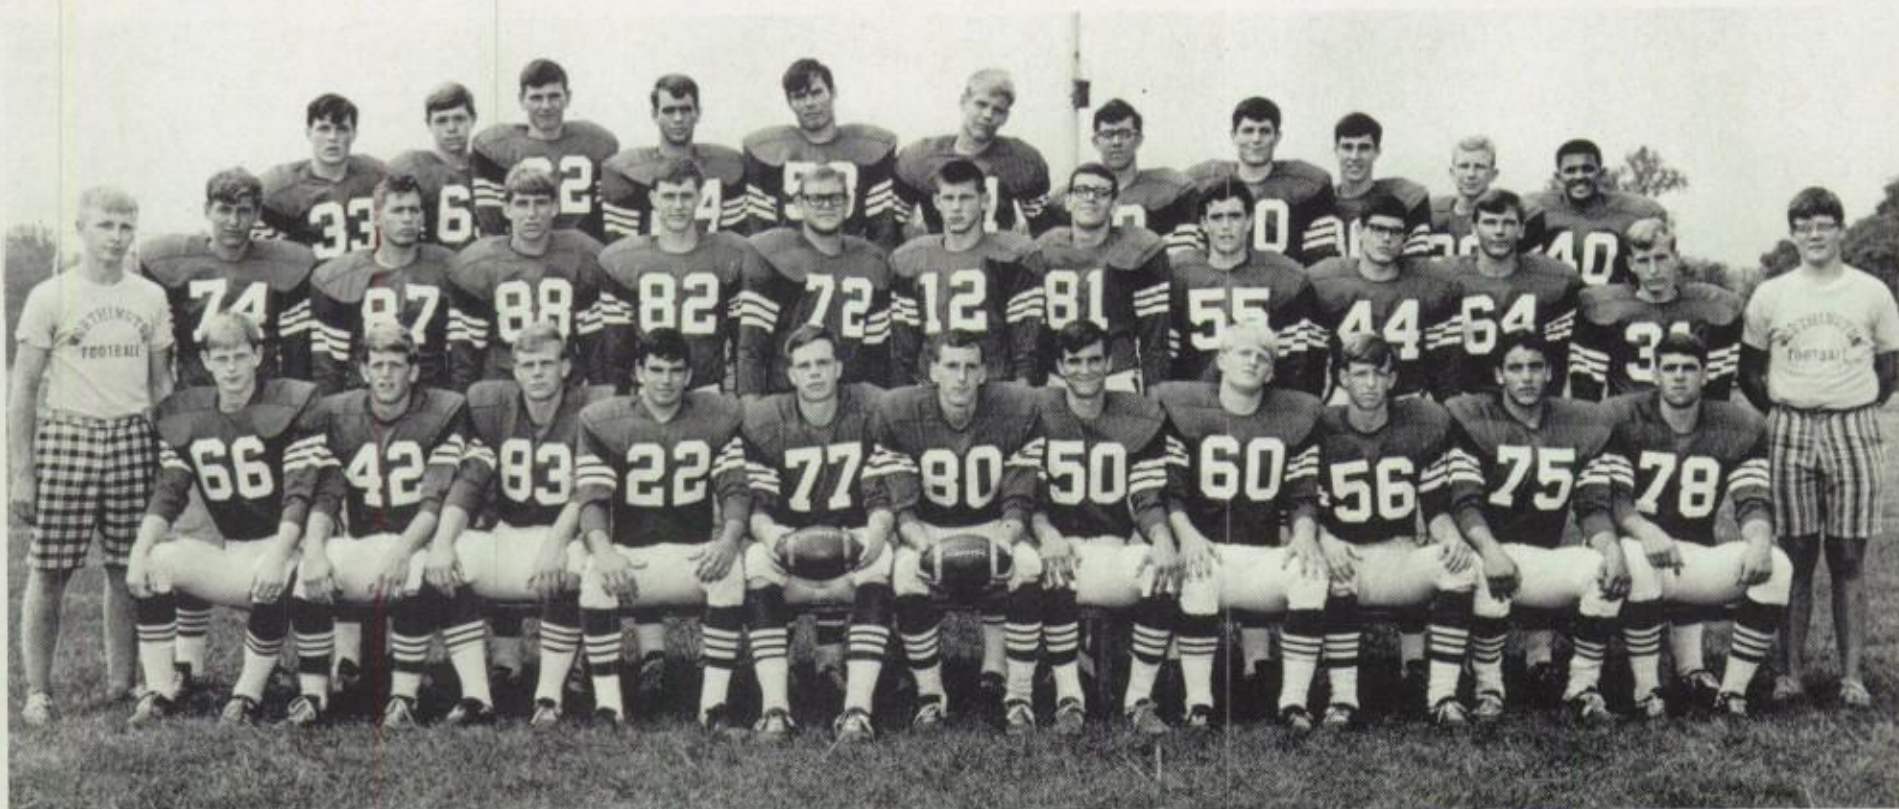

Floundering ankle-deep in mud throughout most of the season, the Cardinals fought valiantly to overcome their two major problems, inclement weather and inexperience. From a field of ten seniors, fifteen juniors and five sophomores, only six were returning lettermen.

As a member of the Buckeye Athletic Conference for the first and only time, Worthington achieved a fourth place. However, end Larry Ray and high-scoring quarterback Dick Atha (who also set a new record for passing) were named to the all-league team. Receiving honorable mention for the same were: Randy Crewes, Tom Comer, Craig Dean and Tom Thomas.

Next year Worthington will shift to the newly-formed Ohio Capital Conference and will be under the direction of "Smokey" Wion who will replace Ralph Sabock as head coach.

Training Stressed On Freshman, Reserve Team

Honorary Coach Welling never misses a game.

The freshman and reserve teams provide an intensive training program for boys intending to try for a varsity position.

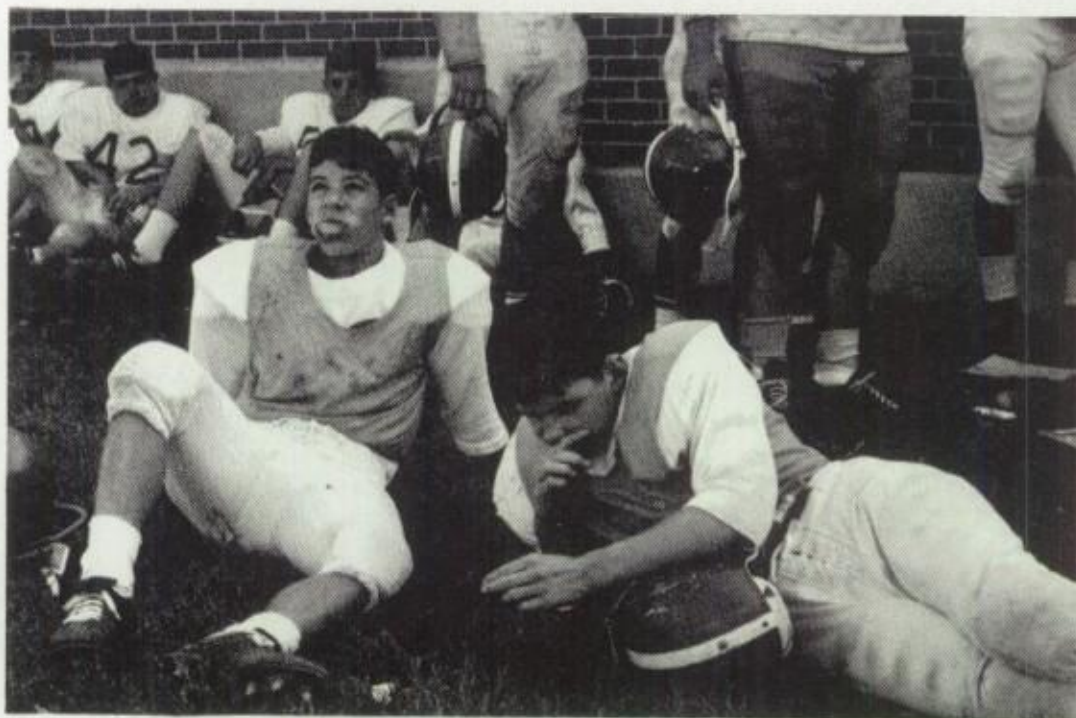

Under the leadership of co-captains Tim Kight and Hugh Miller and the direction of coaches Mr. Taylor and Mr. Apthorp, the freshmen ended the season with a solid 3-3 record. Their plays were built around speed (Jack Savage ran a record 800 yards in six games) and the Oklahoma defense.

Although football was a new experience for the freshman, their tremendous spirit and unity saw them through an admirable season.

Coaches Mr. Green and Mr. Lawrence and the reserve team had many problems facing them this year. The most significant was the drafting of their five best players to the varsity squad. This loss greatly affected their unity, teamwork, morale and record which was 0-6.

Boys prepare for an afternoon of strenuous practice.

After winning eight out of eleven meets including the district championship, the cross country team nabbed the state title as a grand finale to a fantastic season.

The first state cross country trophy to come to rest at Worthington elated coach Les Eisenhart and his seven hard-working boys, all of whom ranked high individually at the state meet.

The team's ultimate victory was attributed to determination, confidence, enthusiasm, and talent, which each boy, in the opinion of the coach, possessed in abundance.

Dubbed the "classy Cardinals" by the local newspapers, this year George Klein's boys captured the coveted Buckeye Athletic Conference championship.

Led by Captain Dwight Miller who totalled 306 points, the entire team compiled 1,151 points, made 40% of their field goals and 68% of their free throws.

Other outstanding achievements of this championship team included trouncing Portsmouth, number eleven in the state polls, and placing three members on the BAC first string team, Dwight Miller, Dick Atha and Dave Van Meter.

The Reserves ended the season with a 6-12 win-loss record. Although they were unable to function well as a group, there was much individual potential displayed. Their major achievement was handing the Grandview Reserves their only defeat of the season.

Two Teams Mark New Freshman Program

The freshman basketball squad divided into two teams in order to give more boys a chance to play, thereby preparing them for reserve and varsity action.

Mr. Elliott's team compiled an 8-6 record and Mr. Cozze's ended with a 6-2.

The guard play on both teams was weak but the boys made up for it by their strength in the forecourt and rebounding.

Both coaches thought that there was an abundance of good talent in the class.

*denotes Buckeye Athletic Conference

The 1967-68 swimming team, comprised of twenty-four dedicated mermen, under the direction of Coach Sterling Apthorp, Jr. and co-captains Mike Glaros and John Donovan, compiled an impressive season.

After having raced to a won-lost standing of 7-5, the team then proceeded to send five boys to the state meet. The 200-yard medley relay team of Jerry Toops, Bill Little, Jeff Love and Jeff Rogers splashed to an eleventh place in the state. John Donovan executed his dives in usual fine form to land a seventh place and Jeff Rogers nabbed the ninth place in the 100-yard freestyle.

At the annual Swimming Banquet, held this year on March 26, Coach Apthorp named Jeff Rogers as most outstanding freshman swimmer, Scott Thomas as most improved swimmer and John Donovan, fourth letter award winner as most outstanding swimmer.

Several new school records were set by this squad, these being 200-yard medley relay—Jerry Toops, Bill Little, Jeff Love, Jeff Rogers; 400-yard Medley relay—Mike Yost, Mike Glaros, Jeff Love, Jeff Rogers; 100-yard backstroke—Scott Steinman and 100-yard breaststroke—Bill Little.

Matmen Wrestle B.A.C. Title From Foes

The sectional meet saw eight Cardinal wrestlers placing first. They were Jerry Hanley, Tom Peugh, Frank Johnson, Gary Marginean, Ralph Lowery, Tom Johnson, Doug Morgan, and Greg Voutyras.

Tenth place was Worthington's slot at the district meet as Ralph Lowery placed second and Greg Voutyras fourth. Ralph Lowery went on to place sixth in the state meet.

Coach Effron expressed pride and confidence in his junior-varsity team, although they wound up the season with three wins and four losses.

Boosted by the winning combination of team spirit, senior leadership and the enthusiastic confidence of Coach Campbell, the Worthington wrestlers captured the Buckeye Athletic Conference crown for the 1967-68 season. The Cardinals claimed four champions including three seniors. Gary Marginean at 138, Ralph Lowery at 154, and Jim Partridge at 175 all placed first, along with junior heavyweight, Greg Voutyras.

At the Toledo Invitational, the Cards managed sixteenth place with eleven points; and, at the All-North Invitational, WHS pulled third behind Upper Arlington and Whetstone, although two Cardinals, Tom Peugh at 127 and Ralph Lowery at 154, appeared on the list of winners.

On the home mats at the Worthington Invitational, the Cards placed fourth behind Sandusky, Toledo DeVilbis and Martin's Ferry. Worthington matmen took three first places with Ralph Lowery at 154, Greg Voutyras at heavyweight, and Tom Johnson at 165.

Worthington was back on top at the Top Eight Invitational as the Cards tied for first with DeSales. Five of the Worthington Wrestling men placed second with Jim Partridge defeating Gust of Columbus South, who had been unbeaten for the past two years.

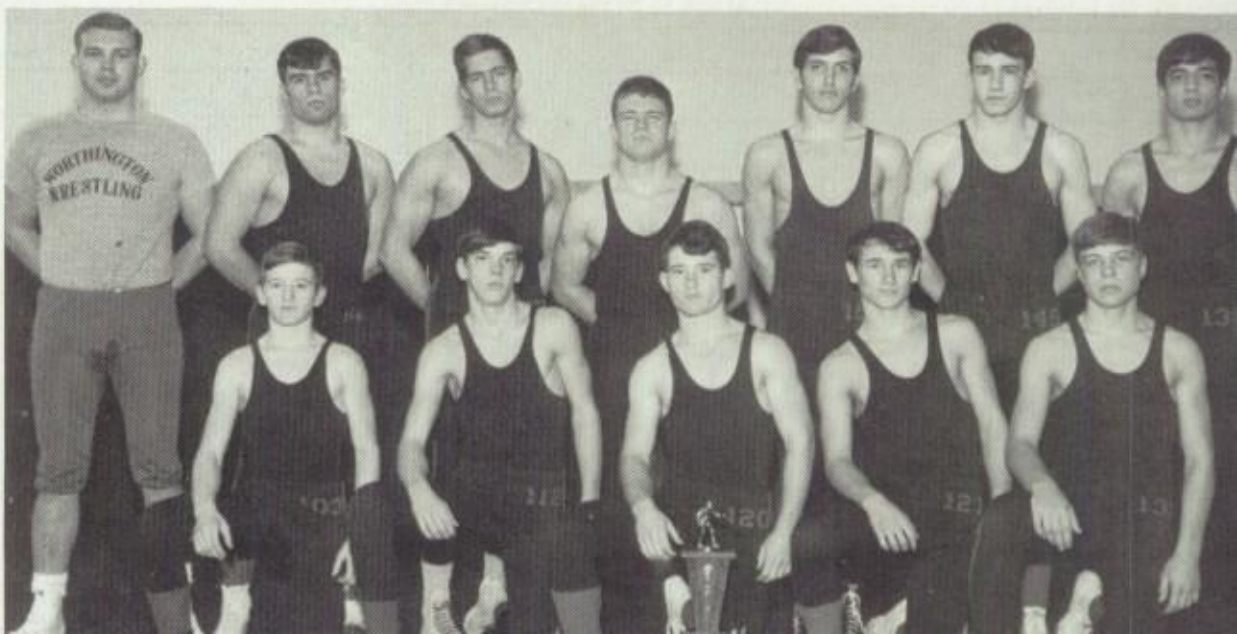

Coach Effron, responding to the tension of a close match, shouts encouragement.

Combining enthusiasm and beauty, Wrestling Queen Sandi Foster (at left) and her court, Sally Shannon and Lisa Cowgill, urge the Cards to victory.

Trackmen Race To Winning Season, State Meet

High jumper Robbie Carter exhibits free, fancy flying form.

Freshmen track team members chose Wendy Dove, Terry Gnezda and Nancy Bowers to reign at a meet as queens.

Inspired by the example of the state championship cross-country team, the spring track team strove to uphold Worthington's fine reputation and succeeded.

Worthington sent six boys, in three different events, to the state track meet after they had placed in the regional competition. Ralph Lowery and co-captain Jim Wilson, holdovers from the cross-country team, entered the mile run; Dave Barnes represented Worthington in the two mile run; and Gary Beavers, Bill Ingram, Craig Dean and Jim Wilson comprised the mile relay team.

The other positions on the team were filled by Greg Voutyras and Kurt Paulus in the discus, Darrel Bryant in the shot put, Co-Captain Robbie Carter and Mark Leonard in the high jump, Doug Blackburn and Tim Kight in the low hurdles, Larry Ray in the one hundred yard dash, Mark Denbow and Don Stevens in the high hurdles, Randy Chadwell in the mile.

The team did not disregard this year's tradition and added the Buckeye Athletic Conference trophy to their list of honors.

The team was coached by cross-country coach Les Eisenhart who constantly encouraged the boys by his favorite reminder, "Records are made to be broken." The 1968 track team did just that.

Underclassmen Revitalize Rained-Out Team

A rain-soaked field for practices and games was the plague of this year's baseball team. Undaunted by flooded dugouts and floating bases, the sluggers were reinforced by the drafting of underclassmen to build the team for next year.

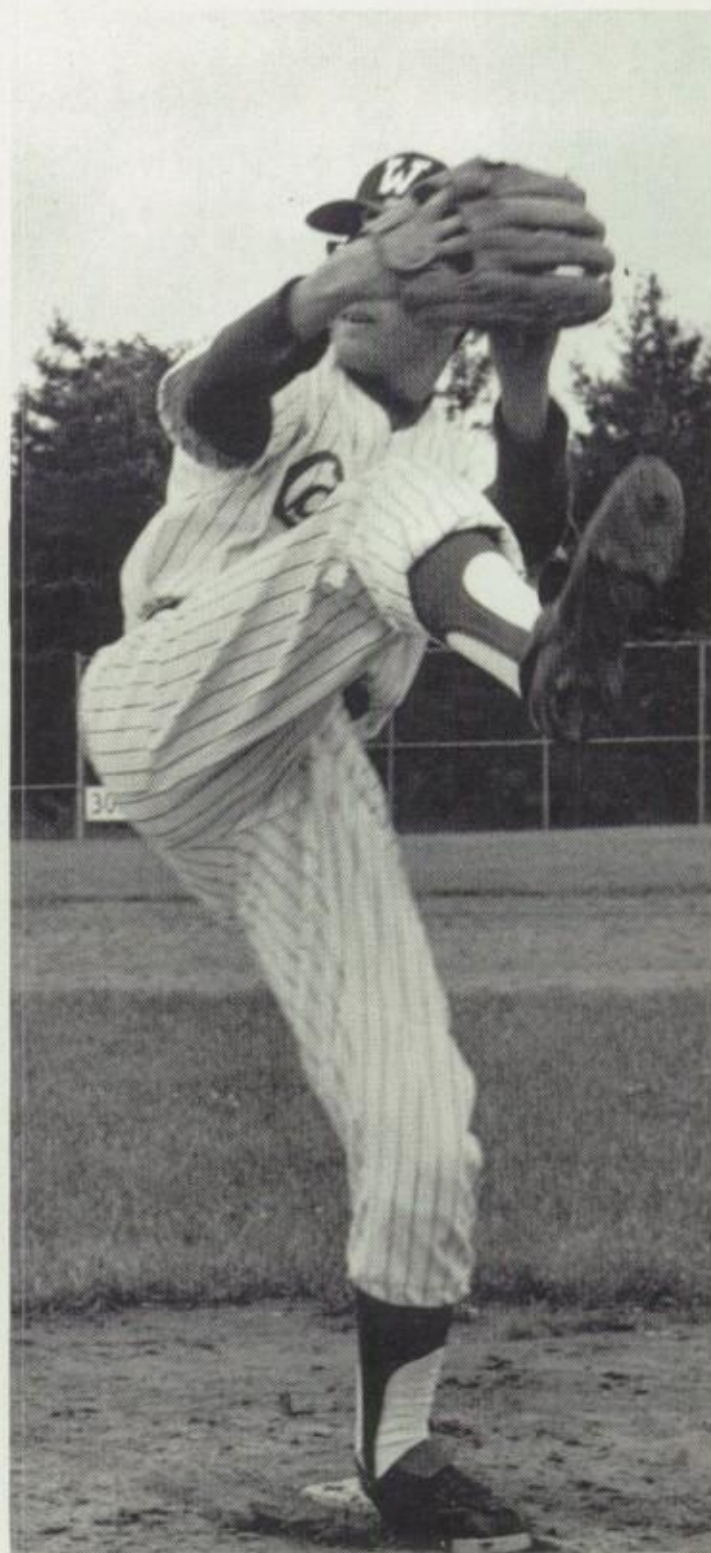

Among the outstanding batting averages were Dwight Miller's .371, David Green's .332 and Steve Bennett's .312.

The senior pitchers were well-represented by Captain Ben Maiden and Dave Smith and the juniors who gained in stature on the pitcher's mound were Randy Harrington and Dick Atha.

The team was under the expert coaching of Mr. Termeer.

Golfers Swing Tough Schedule For BAC Trophy

Worthington High School golfers took their tough schedule in stride and wound up the season with a 16-4 record and the BAC trophy. Led by first-year coach, George Klein, the WHS swingers had the satisfaction of handing the state champ, Upper Arlington, their only defeat, and also placed fifth in the district. Outstanding golfers included Dan Montgomery, medalist, and Mike Schurtz. Worthington home games were played at Worthington Hills or York Country Club.

WHS Tennis Men Net Unofficial BAC Title

Although the tennis team was faced with the toughest schedule in Worthington's history, they earned a 5-1 record in the conference, capturing the unofficial BAC title and came out second highest in the district.

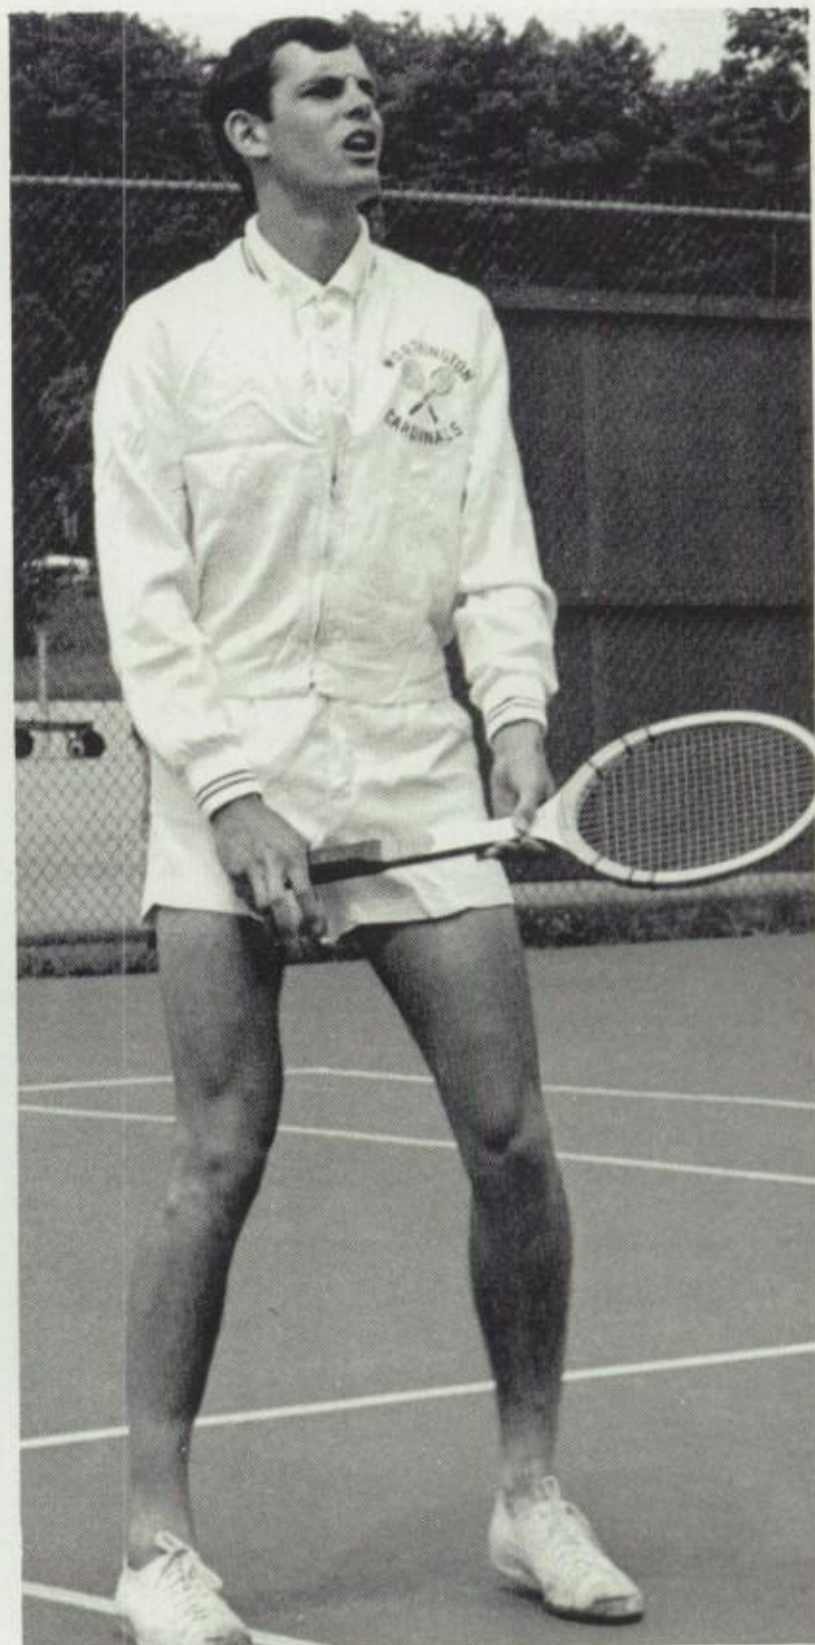

Craig Kridel reached semi-finals in the district after pulling the biggest upset in the tournament by defeating Chuck Loving of Academy, seven to five and six to one.

Jim Purtz attained the quarter finals where he was defeated by the second-seeded player Jim Slane of West, six to one and six to four.

The doubles teams of Brian McClatchie-Tom Stimpert and Denny McDougale-Carl Wise also traveled to the quarter finals before bowing out.

Racquet poised, Carl Wise anticipated an opponent's serve.

Under Barb, Charlotte, Vice-president Jane Shisler and Secretary Sue Frost, the active girls also made pre-game signs, held a bake sale every Tuesday, sponsored a canteen and All Sports Dance, performed a skit at the Christmas assembly and held a Parent's Night at two of the games.

Pep Club Captain Nila Whitfield led eighty-four girls in a successful endeavor to bolster school spirit by organized cheering at games and making signs.

For the first time at Worthington, a girls' tennis team was formed for inter-school competition. Undaunted by its inexperience, the spirited team tried its best but accomplished only a 1-5 season.

Interest in intramurals soared under the responsible leadership and enthusiastic following of G.A.A. this year. By participating in intramurals, girls may accumulate points toward G.A.A. membership or letter. Active members of the club were led by Ellen Davis as president, Sue Lawless as vice-president and Wendy Craver as secretary-treasurer. Intramural Director Janet Kramer planned the teams and scheduled the games with the help of Advisor Miss Bach.

Ski Club sponsored two highly successful ski trips. In December, members spent a day on the slopes at Mansfield. Seven Springs, Pennsylvania was the setting for a weekend of fun in February. For the next few days, girls who made the journey were easily spotted by their glowing sunburn and windburn.

Field hockey may have been a popular sport in autumn, but G.A.A. members were able to watch another form of the game when they attended a Columbus Checker's hockey game. Avid campers got their fill on two trips to McKay Lodge.

G.A.A. topped off the year with a swim party and a food fest at a potluck dinner.

Once again, the Worthington girls waged war with their hockey sticks and defeated nearly all opponents, which included some of the toughest in the state. Their one loss was to Talawanda in Oxford, Ohio, and they tied against Columbus School for Girls. Thirty-two girls were involved on all three of the hockey teams.

Four separate volleyball teams assured many girls of the chance to play in the games; and they played well, winning most of their games.

Problems Of A Growing School

Expansion and job transfers caused various changes in the administration. Use of the annex, location for most freshman homerooms, necessitated additions to the staff and the installation of Mr. Pollock as annex supervisor. Serving freshman and sophomore boys, Mr. Ken Valentine occupied a completely new place in the guidance department.

Many other alterations occurred. Mr. Miller, a former counselor, advanced to assistant principal following Mr. Christopher's resignation. To aid students unsure of future plans, Mrs. Watters filled the recently created job of vocational counselor.

New Teachers Oriented

The English department, this year examined and re-evaluated their objectives through an in-service seminar at which various staff members made reports on the current research into the teaching of English.

Within the next few years, the department plans to experiment with team teaching, which often results in curriculum modifications.

The addition of new teachers to this ever-expanding program furthered the development of a more sequential progress in composition and language instruction.

Through extra-curricular productions and publications, the student, advised by English teachers, strives toward the goal of maximum effectiveness in speaking, writing, listening and understanding.

The Chronicle and the Cardinal yearbook provide an outlet for the journalistic talents of students. Dramatic presentations further explore student theatrical ability.

Another phase of English is represented by Debate, in which the art of communication is improved. Ease and poise when speaking is perfected through book reports, monologues and readings.

Future plans for the History Department include large group lectures and the addition of more films, records and other research materials.

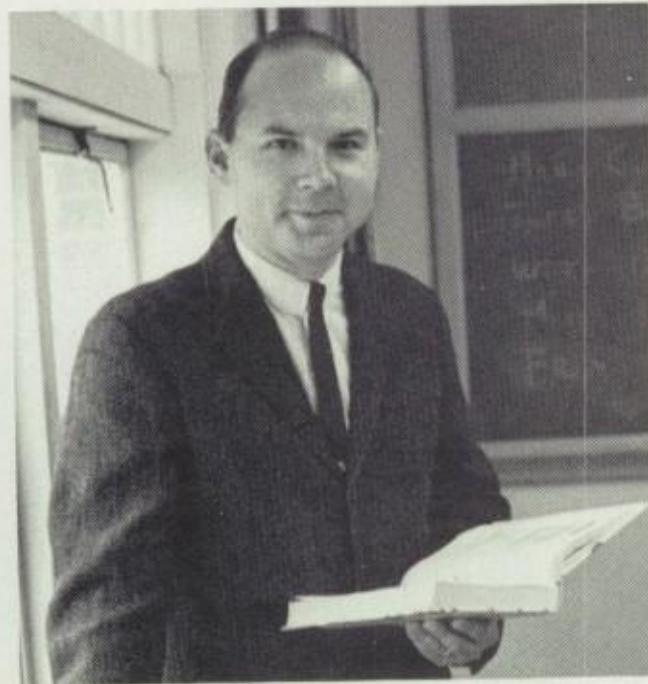

A commission has been established to explore the possibility of initiating a sociology-humanities course. Exchanging ideas on teaching methods is the primary function of a newly formed workshop. Terms such as inductive, deductive and re-troductive have been applied to present social studies courses at Worthington. Turn To Inquiry Approach Student inquiry type courses marked the beginning of revisions in the science department. CBA Chemistry, PSSC Physics and BSCS Biology enable the student to further laboratory skills and to have a better understanding of the material covered.

The shift to these programs encouraged the department to consider means of equipping more labs, particularly those for biology, to better fit the courses.

Main challenges for the department are to institute a seminar-type society for the science students and to provide them with better research facilities.

Into Co-ordination Stage

To achieve a continuous math program throughout the middle schools and high school is the goal of the department. This reorganizational period included examining the structure of the math curriculum and co-ordinating courses to eliminate duplications in subject matter and to remedy omissions.

New teachers were introduced to fulfill the needs of the increased number of students. The Math V course, in its second year at Worthington, was provided with a new textbook, in line with the goals of the department.

Foreign travel and study typified this year's language department. All teachers had either lived or visited in the country of their language, bringing a new life to class discussions. Also useful were the new textbooks, tapes, and slide projectors being used within the classroom.

This year marked the first time a Russian course had been taught at Worthington. Another first was the introduction of French and Spanish to the middle schools.

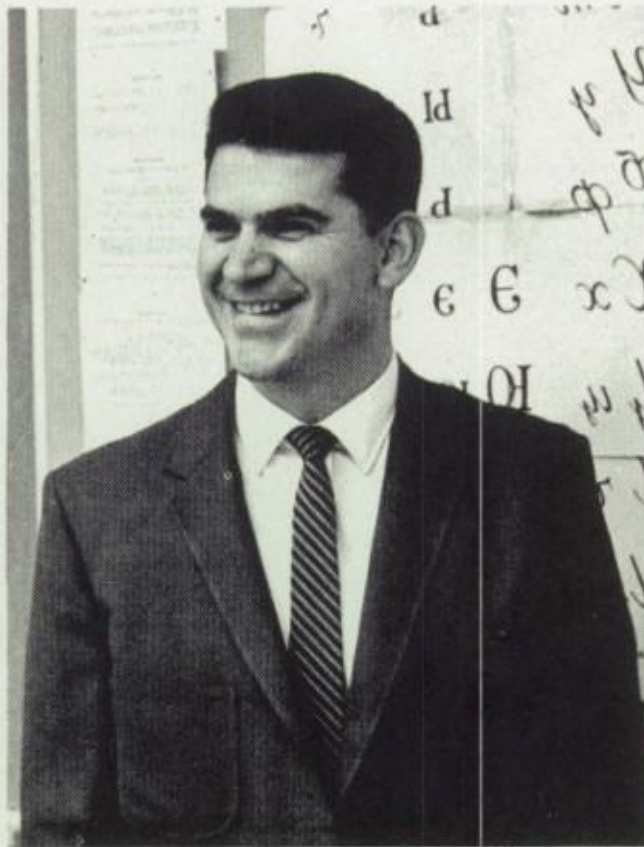

A department goal is to insure a standard dealing with background and requirements in order to acquire a block of learning at each level. Also to be achieved is a smooth transition from middle school language to high school.

Encounter Driver Ed., P.E., Health

Four years of physical education and a semester course in health are mandatory for students at Worthington.

Already handling eighty percent of the students, driver education will become even more popular next year. New Ohio safety laws will then be put into effect, requiring a student to take a driver education course to obtain a license before he is eighteen.

These courses are hoping to expand and become even more useful through the addition of new facilities.

Vocation Courses Expand

For the first time at W.H.S., art was offered as a major, full-credit subject. Besides one new teacher, facilities include a new classroom, a supply room, and kiln.

The art program has been developed to use the first year as an introduction to art; the second to study the human figure. Third year art solves the technical problems of visual experiences and during the fourth year, the individual student pursues his own interests.

Due to the growth of interest in home economics, new classes and sewing machines have been added.

Guidance Focuses On

Complementing the C.O.E. program, is the newly formed Diversified Co-operative Training. The school day ends at noon for students who are apprenticed to learn occupations in trade and industry from various businesses in the area. To supplement these programs, vocational guidance is now offered.

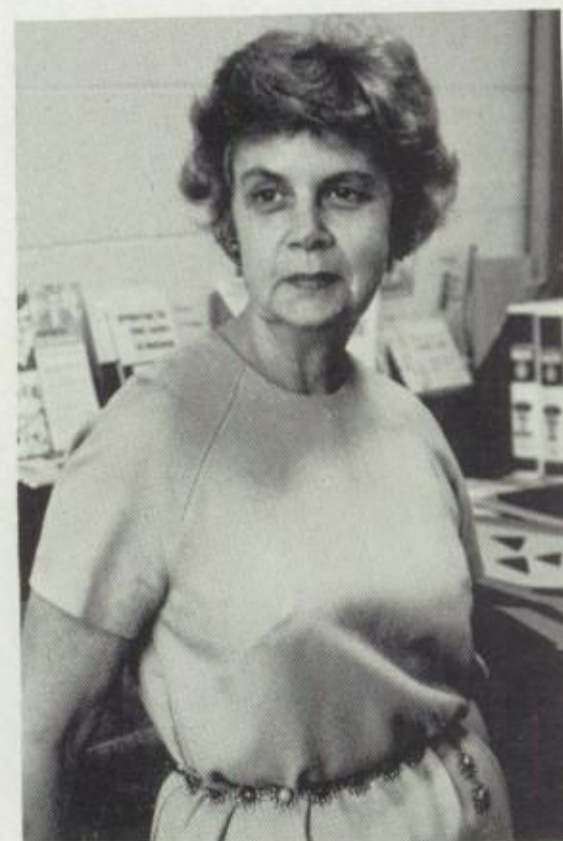

An increase in the guidance staff helps to keep pace with the needs of the ever-growing student population. Additional duties are placed on the guidance counselors with the data-processing grade system.

WEST CAFETERIA COOKS—Mrs. Goldie Hushower, Mrs. Elizabeth Sagstetter, Mrs. Louise Severence (Mgr.), Mrs. Reba Hard, Mrs. Catherine Shaw.

It is hard workers behind the scenes who keep an institution as large as Worthington working to maximum capacity and efficiency. They are the people about whom little is heard yet their accomplishments are many.

There is Mrs. Lillian Bernhagen, school nurse/author, who has written a book to be used in school systems all over the country called Sex Education—Understanding Growth and Social Development. She will take a leave of absence next year for a comprehensive sex education program from elementary through high school.

Mrs. Bobrovnikoff, reading improvement instructor, has expanded her program to include machines, films and approximately three-thousand books. She has been allotted an entire room to further develop the reading program.

The remaining custodians, clerks and cooks each do their share and more to maintain the high standards of Worthington High School.

Senior Officers Spur Class Toward Graduation

Senior Class officers are: President John Donovan, Vice-President Dwight Miller, Secretary Sue Keltner, Treasurer Steph Reichert.

Senior spirit soared to new heights as the Class of '68 realized that only one more year was left. The chill of rainy football games was lessened as seniors were packed under layers of plastic, blankets, and umbrellas.

To honor the senior football players on the day of the last game, senior girls rose early to decorate the school halls and stage a pre-home-room pep rally. Basketball games received their share of attention as a Senior Soul Section developed.

Supplementing the senior treasury were the proceeds from such projects as a car wash, canteen, and a smorgasbord.

Toothbrush Sales Lessen Strain On Prom Budget

Junior class officers were President Jim Savage, Vice-president Bruce Turnbull, Secretary Jane Everett, and Treasurer Diane Wettes.

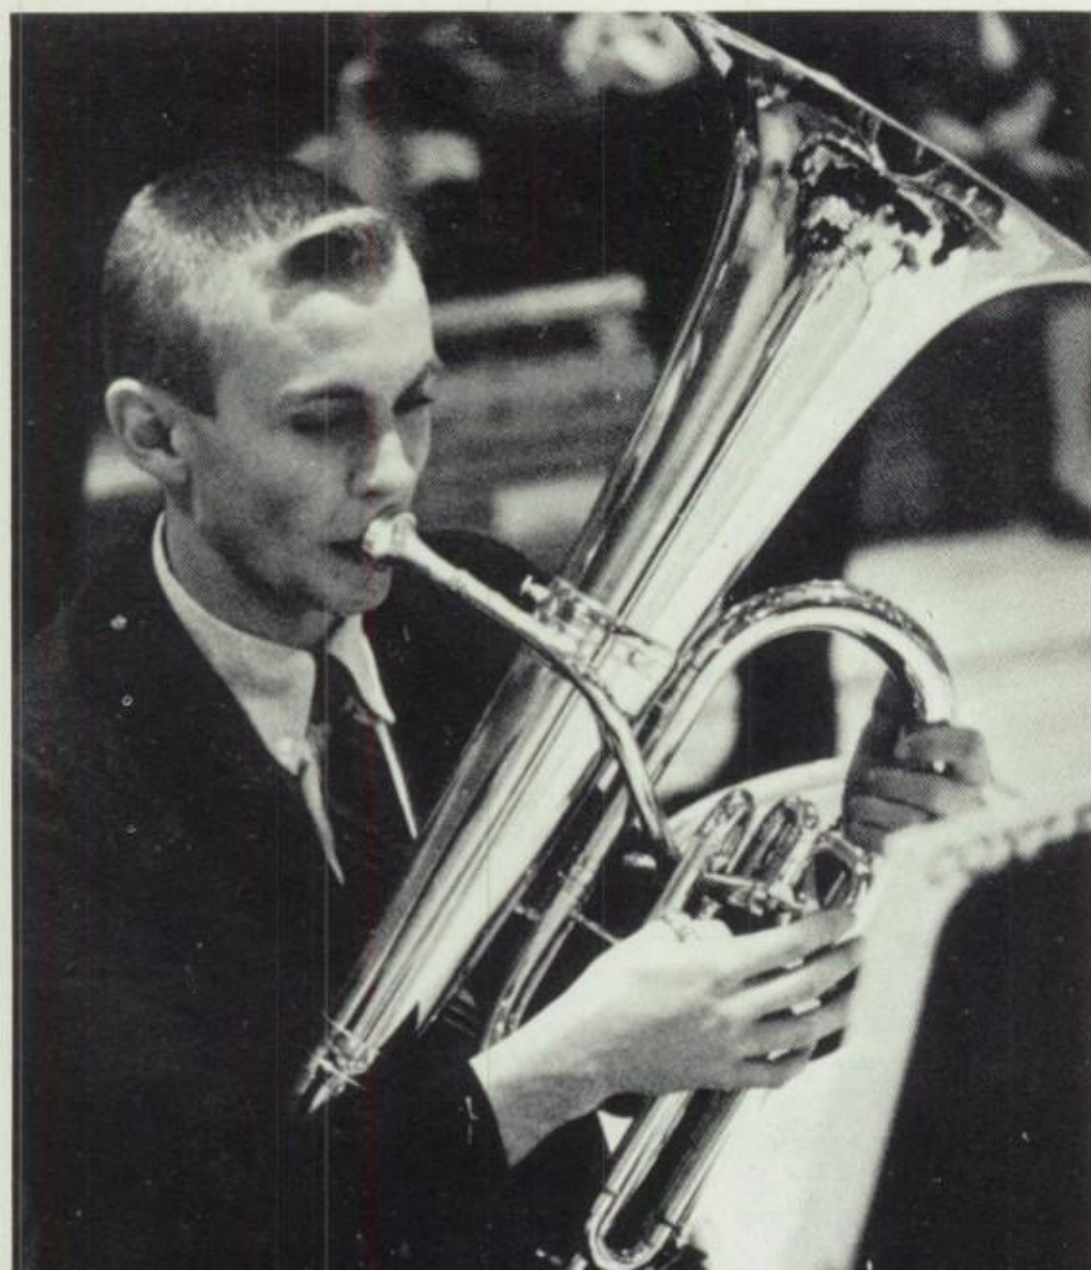

Innovations were what the Class of '69 had to supply as they became aware of the rising cost of prom-producing straining their static budget. Because of their predicament, a junior-senior assembly was called to discuss the possibility of holding the prom out of the gym. However, the idea was vetoed when it met with student disfavor.

Juniors began to gather prom funds early with profits from the concession stands at football games. The unusual idea of a toothbrush sale brought in further money. Other projects included a bake sale and canteen.

Their homecoming float took second place in the competition with the theme, "Homecoming is a taste of honey."

American History, a required junior course, is enjoyed by Becky Lowe.

Sophomore Activities Keep The Class Rolling

Homecoming presented the sophomores with a welcome beginning to their second year as their float took top prize in the competition.

Further money-making projects included a canteen, bake sale, and a t-shirt sale in the spring. A fortune telling booth at the Winter Carnival drew large crowds eager for knowledge of the future.

Sophomore students played an important role in school and class activities while determined sophomore enthusiasm seriously rivaled senior spirit at any major event.

Freshmen Cope With Sore Feet And Late Slips

As Annex Provides Added Classroom Facilities

Worthington's freshman class made a quickly needed adjustment in both shoes and schedules, when they found themselves walking from the main building to the annex, the scene of half their classes. A newly installed public address system in the annex helped to unite the two school buildings.

Acquainting the Class of 71 with itself and the rest of Worthington High School, a September orientation served a useful purpose for all new students.

Freshmen began to gather funds for their treasury with the traditional sweat shirt sale. Throughout the year, supplements continued to be received from such projects as a canteen, bake sale, and a cake walk for the Winter Carnival.

The theme of "Homecoming is School Spirit" brought a third place to the freshmen in the Homecoming float competition, their first major class project.

Connie Richeson and Ann Williams stand patiently.

Freshman officers were President Mike Mack, Vice-President Terry Gnezda, Secretary Sue Jones and Treasurer Margie Bennett.

Beef Tales

Throughout history no other food has warmed so many hearts — and stomachs — as roast beef. And men of letters have heaped lavish praise on its virtue. When Charles Dickens set out to provide The Seven Poor Travelers with a memorable Christmas feast his main dish was a noble roast of beef. . .

CHARLES

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

No less a lover of beef was the Bard of Avon. "I am a great eater of beef", said Shakespeare in Twelfth Night, "What say you to a piece of beef and mustard?" (Taming of the Shrew).

We at SaxonS appreciate such sentiments, and we agree with Jonathan Swift's assessment of beef as the "king of meat". As Suetonius said in 120 A.D., "Quis potest sine offula vivere" — Who can live without a snack? Won't you join us the next time you feel like a snack?

SaxonS would like to take this opportunity to join all the proud parents and grandparents in congratulating the Worthington High School Class of 1968 and to wish them well in the years ahead.

Challenge '68

The challenges have been issued, we shall strive to meet them.

Each one of us has his own personal challenge. For some, the challenge is a frustration; however, I feel that challenge is a beginning—a refreshing start. One must constantly strive to respond to his challenge.

My challenge was to record the events and activities of the 1967-1968 school year in the 1968 Cardinal. Invaluable assistance was given to me by a competent and hardworking staff. Special thanks are due to Miss Elaine Hottenroth, friend and advisor, and to Mr. Paul Retrum of Artmaster.

Finally I would like to thank Worthington High School—every administrator, staff member, teacher and student for his unfailing encouragement.

Kathy DeMerit
